  - Main GB location 1881: Lincs and Norfolk; also Notts and Leics
  - Main Irish location 1847–64: Galway
- 1 English: nickname from Middle English skirwhit(e) 'skirret, water parsnip' (Sium sisarum), apparently an alteration of Old French eschervis. The plant was cultivated for its tubers, which were used in sauces and medicine, so the surname may have been acquired by someone who grew or sold it, or who used it in cooking or medicinally. Some of the following post-medieval bearers may alternatively belong with (2) or (3).

Early bearers: Thomas Skyret, 1269 in Feet of Fines (Sussex); Ricardo Skyrwytt and Nicholao Skyrewhit, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Tarrant Keynston, Dorset); Alice Skyrewhit, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Great Holland, Essex); Thomas Skyrewytt, Roger Skyrewytt, 1332 in

Subsidy Rolls (Surrey); John Skyrwhytt, 1377 in Colchester Court Rolls (Essex); Johannes Skirwit, 1381 in Poll Tax (Wilts); Eustis Skeritt, 1652 in IGI (Chigwell, Essex); Miles Skeritt, 1672 in IGI (Gimingham, Norfolk); Judith Skirrit, 1731 in IGI (Welby, Lincs); Alice Sherrit, 1733, Samuel Skeritt, 1738, John Skirrit, 1795 in IGI (Grantham, Lincs); Charles Skirrit, 1771 in IGI (Newark on Trent, Notts); Elizabeth Skirrit, 1793 in IGI (Melton Mowbray, Leics).

2 English: variant of Sherrard or Sherwood. The names were probably much confused, and it is difficult to say which form of the name is historically prior.

Early bearers: John Sherrott, 1576, John Sherratt, 1586, John Skerratt, 1614, John Sherwood, 1621 in IGI (Breedon on the Hill, Leics); Elizabeth Sherret, 1697, Charles Skerit, 1704 in IGI (North Collingham, Notts).

3 English: variant of Scarratt.

4 English: perhaps a local pronunciation of the Devon surname Sherwood. The development of Sh- to Sk- in early Modern English is a feature of Devon dialect; see Place-Names of Devon, p. xxxv. With the 1577 and 1666 examples cited below compare Robert Sherwood, 1585 in IGI (Exeter, Devon).

Early bearers: Raphe Skirrette, 1577, Agnes Skirrit, 1666, Zacheriah Skirrett, 1677 in IGI (Exeter, Devon); Edward Skerret, 1668 in IGI (Okehampton, Devon).

1 English: occupational name for someone who lays slates on roofs, from Middle English sclat(t)er, occasionally slater, 'slater' (a derivative of Old French esclate 'slate' + the Middle English agent suffix -er). See also Slate.

Early bearers: England: Thomas le Sclatere, 1255 in Assize Rolls (Worcs); Saundr' le Sclattur, 1278 in Oseney Cartulary (Oxon); Roger Sclatiere, 1279 in Hundred Rolls (Oxon); Walter Sclatter, 1279 in Hundred Rolls (Bucks); Thoma Slater, 1297 in Subsidy Rolls (Ravenser Odd, a lost port on the Humber, ER Yorks); John Le Sclatter, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Lancs); Willelmus Sclattar, 1377 in Poll Tax (Rousham, Oxon); Johanne Sclater, 1379 in Poll Tax (Leicester, Leics); Johannes Sclattere, 1379 in Poll Tax (Barton on the Heath, Warwicks); Willelmo Sclater, 1379 in Poll Tax (Sandford, Westm); Johanne Sclattere, 1379 in Poll Tax (Cricklade, Wilts); Johannes Sclater, 1379 in Poll Tax (Brierley, WR Yorks); Rogerus Sclatterre, 1381 in Poll Tax (Darley, Derbys); Willelmo Sklattar, tegulator ('tiler'), 1381 in Poll Tax (Cirencester, Gloucs); Johannes le Sclater, 1381 in Poll Tax (Eccleston, Lancs); Johamn Slater, 1540 in IGI (Edensor, Derbys); Jeneta Slater, 1543 in IGI (Saint Bees, Cumb); Joane Slater, 1546 in IGI (Claypole, Lincs); John Slater, 1550 in IGI (Whittington, Lancs); Edward Slater, 1554 in IGI (Halifax, WR Yorks).

2 English: in Sussex and adjacent counties, Slater and Slatter are probably post-medieval pronunciations of Slaughter, as suggested by the surnames in Thakeham, Shipley, and Billingshurst below. There seems to be no medieval evidence in the S coast counties for the occupational name Slater in (1).

Further information: McKinley observes that Edward Slutter, a tenant of land in Thakeham near West Grinstead (Sussex) in the mid 16th century, is also called Edward Slater. He deduces from this that the now extinct West Grinstead surname Slutter (a derivative of Middle English slutte 'muddy place', and a name for someone who resided at such a place) was assimilated to Slater. This may have happened, but it should be noted that Edward's family name was probably not Slutter but Slater or Slatter (from Slaughter, an attested surname in Thakeham), which was no doubt miswritten as Slutter through confusion with the other name. Early bearers: Julia Slater, 1560 in IGI (Cowfold, Sussex); Richard Slater, 1593 in IGI (Thakeham, Sussex); Margerite Slatter, 1596, Madlin Slater, 1610 in IGI (Shipley, Sussex); John Slater, 1651 in IGI (Billingshurst, Sussex).

1 English: locative name in Sussex and Surrey denoting residence at one or other of several minor place-names such as Slaughter Bridge in Slinfold, Slaughter Bridge in Shipley (compare the 1606 surname), Slaughterford (Farm) in Itchingfield (compare the 1296 surname), and Slaughtertwicks Barn in Charlwood (Surrey). The editors of Place-Names of Sussex derive these names from Middle English slo(gh) 'sloe, blackthorn' (Old English slah) + tre 'tree' (Old English treow). However, on topographical and formal grounds Löfvenberg suggests they derive from Middle English **sloghtre*, **sloghtere* 'slough, mire, muddy place', or perhaps 'deep river valley', or 'ditch' (Old English **slohtre*). This is certainly the etymology of Upper and Lower Slaughter (Gloucs) and The Slaughter in English Bicknor (Gloucs), from either of which the Gloucs surnames derive.

- GB frequency 1881: 3

English: nickname apparently from Middle English smal 'small' + horn 'horn' (Old English smæl + horn). The exact meaning of the name is unclear, though it is possible that horn has the sense 'penis', as it appears to have in the surname Whitehorn.

- English: (i) nickname from Middle English smal 'small, narrow' + -man, for a small or skinny person. (ii) status name from Middle English smal(e)man, apparently denoting an order of medieval peasantry. The term is evidenced in the phrase de Tainis et Dreinis et Smalemannis ('of thanes and drengs and smallmen') which occurs in the Pipe Rolls in 1130 in relation to Durham. See also Place-Names of Essex p. 584.

Smallpage

- Current frequencies: GB 37, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 90
- Main GB location 1881: WR Yorks and Lancs

English: nickname apparently from Middle English litel 'little' + page 'boy, servant', for a small boy or servant, synonymous with Littlepage. However, as Redmonds notes, there is no medieval evidence for this Yorks and Lancs name, and it may in fact be an altered form, by folk etymology, of the extinct name Smallpace, attested in Roger Smalpas, 1295–96, Robert Smalpas, 1313–14 in Bolton Priory Compotus (Bolton Abbey, WR Yorks). The name denotes someone with a small step (Middle English smal + pas), synonymous with the extinct Anglo-Norman French name Petipas.

Snipe

- GB frequency 1881: 65
- Main GB location 1881: Worcs and Warwicks; also WR Yorks

1 English: relationship name, nickname from the Middle English personal name Snipe, Snype (Old English Snip, Old Scandinavian Snípr), or directly from the Middle English or Old Scandinavian bird-name which gave rise to it. Compare Nicholas Snynewife, 1309 in Subsidy Rolls (Beds).

Further information: There is no evidence to support the suggestion in Black that the Scottish surname derived from Snipe (House) in Alnwick, recorded as Swinleysnepe in about 1290. It is feasible that it might be a variant of Snape, a rare Lanarks name that Black derives from Snape, near Coulter in Lanarks, but again there is insufficient evidence to go on.

2 English: as Redmond shows, the WR Yorks name is a variant of Knipe, pronounced Nipe, with prosthetic S-. He cites a tenant in Ilkley rentals named John Knype in 1578 and John Snype in 1582; Thomas Knipe alias Snipe, 1608 West Yorks Deeds (Bradford); and William Snipe, William Knipe of Kirkgate, recorded in Leeds parish registers 1634–37. The same pattern appears in William Snype, 1576, Michael Knype, 1579 in IGI (Leeds, WR Yorks).

1 Chinese: Mandarin form of the Chinese surname 索 (Suo in Mandarin pinyin, Sok in Cantonese romanization), meaning 'thick rope or chain' in Chinese: (i) one of the seven big family surnames during the Shang dynasty (1600–1046 BC). It is said to be from Suo (索), the name of an ancient state (possibly located in Henan province) during the Shang dynasty (1600–1046 BC), which was annexed during the Western Zhou dynasty (1046–771 BC). (ii) traced back to a minority ethnic group in ancient N China.

Soady

Variants: Soddy, Sody, Sodey, Soda, Sawday, Sawdy

- Current frequencies: GB 184, Ireland o
  - GB frequency 1881: 159
  - Main GB location 1881: Cornwall; also Devon
- English: relationship name perhaps from an unrecorded Middle English female personal name **Soude* or **Soudy*, **Saude* or **Saudy*, which could be pet forms of Isoud and Isaud, i.e. Isold (see Izzard). The final -y would represent either a typical Devon and Cornwall pronunciation of final -e or the Middle English hypocoristic suffix -y. This explanation easily accounts for the variation between Soady and Sawdy in many Devon and Cornwall parishes. However, the absence of any medieval evidence for either the given name or the surname makes it an uncertain explanation.

Early bearers: SW England: Walter Sawdy, 1522 in Cornwall Military Survey (Saint Cleer, Cornwall); Thomas Saudy, 1524 in Subsidy Rolls (Little Hempston, Devon); Richard Sawedy, 1524 in Subsidy Rolls (Moretonhampstead, Devon); John Sawde, 1525 in Subsidy Rolls (Sampford Spiney, Devon); Thomas Sowdy, 1545, Agnes Sawdye, 1570, Mary Sowdie, 1577 in IGI (Little Hempston, Devon); Elizabeth Sawdye, 1587 in IGI (Morval, Cornwall); Katherine Soday, 1588, Sipreon Sawdie, 1634 in IGI (North Bovey, Devon); Danyell Sodey, 1588, Danyell Sody, 1590 in IGI (Totnes, Devon); John Saudie, 1591 in IGI (Exeter, Devon); John Sodye, 1591, James Sawdey, 1620 in IGI (Landrake, Cornwall); Thomas Sawdey, 1599 in IGI (Buckfastleigh, Devon); John Sawde, 1621 in IGI (Padstow, Cornwall); Thomas Sowdie, 1625, John Sawdie, 1631, John Soady, 1752 in IGI (Plymouth, Devon); Katteran Soday, 1634 in IGI (Stoke Damerel, Devon); John Saudy, 1659, Thos Soady, 1699 in IGI (Saint Martin by Looe, Cornwall); Nicholas Sawdey, 1677 in IGI (Bodmin, Cornwall); Joshua Soddy, 1714 in IGI (Truro, Cornwall); Stephen Sawdy, 1715, Bridgett Saudey, 1739, Stephen Sowday, 1744 in IGI (Saint Germans, Cornwall); John Soadey, 1814 in IGI (Morval, Cornwall); Edwd. ## Soan

Soane

Variants: Soan, Sone, Soanes, Soon

- Current frequencies: GB 308, Ireland o
- GB frequency 1881: 151
- Main GB location 1881: Hants, Sussex, and Surrey

1 English: variant of Son (1).

Further information: The -o- in Middle English and early Modern English son(e) is a conventional spelling of /u/ before an n. This /u/ became /ʌ/ in Standard English, hence the current pronunciation of Son. If /u/ was lengthened it became /o:/ in Middle English, and then /u:/ in Modern English, hence the occasional spelling Soon. In some speakers' dialects, however, it seems that Middle English /u/ may have been lowered to /ɔ/ and lengthened to /ɔ:/, becoming Modern English /əu/ represented in the spelling Soane. At any rate, Soon and Soane (also Sone) appear together in the same counties and are presumably alternative pronunciations of the same name.

Early bearers: Thomas Soon, 1545 in IGI (Bolney, Sussex); Elyzabeth Soone, 1548, Wyllyamus Sone, 1551 in IGI (Heckfield and Mattingley, Hants); John Sone, 1561 in IGI (Wartling, Sussex); William Soane, 1572 in PROB 11 (West Ham, Essex); Sarah Sone, 1574 in IGI (Saint Michael Cornhill, London); Robert Soone, 1581 in IGI (Marden, Kent); Willo Soane, 1583 in IGI (Selborne, Hants); Thoms. (ii) for some families, the surname can be traced back to the minority ethnic groups in Chenzhou (located in present-day Hunan province).

2 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 桑 (Sang in Mandarin pinyin), meaning 'mulberry' in Chinese: (i) from the place-name of Qiong Sang (窮桑). It was located in present-day Qufu in Shandong province, where the legendary king Shaohao (2598–2525 BC) ascended the throne. Some of his descendants then acquired part of the place name Sang (桑) as their surname. (ii) from the personal name of Zi Sang (子桑), the style name of Gong-Sun Zhi, an official in the state of Qin (located in present-day W Shaanxi province) during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC). His descendants inherited Sang (桑), part of his style name, as their surname. (iii) from Sang (桑), the name of an ancient state (located in present-day Henan province). 5 Korean: (Sŏng, Seong, 성; Chinese character: 成, meaning 'success'). Borne by descendants of Sŏng In-bo (成仁輔), who lived just prior to the establishment of the Koryŏ kingdom in AD 918. According to legend, Sŏng In-bo died in Seoul. His son set out to transport his father's body back to Ch'angnyŏng, but, the weather being poor, he decided to stop for the night and finish the journey in the morning. When he awoke, he discovered that his father's body had been dragged off by a tiger to a secluded grave site in the mountains near Ch'angnyŏng. It was there that the son buried his father and established the clan seat. Many of the members of the Sŏng clan today live in the Ch'angnyŏng area of Kyŏngsang South province.

Sott

- GB frequency 1881: 23
- Main GB location 1881: scattered in England and Scotland

English, Scottish: (i) nickname from Middle English sot, Old English sott ‘foolish, stupid’, also commonly used as a noun ‘a fool or simpleton’. This is probably the main source of the name, but some instances without the definite article may alternatively have one of the following senses. (ii) nickname, relationship name from Middle English sot(e), swot(e), Old English swōt ‘sweet, pleasant, beloved’, also used as a noun ‘dear one’, and possibly used as a personal name. This word would normally have kept the long vowel, appearing in later English as S(w)oot, but sott(e) with a shortened vowel is also found. Compare Sweet. (iii) nickname, relationship name from Middle English, Old English sōt, Old Scandinavian sót ‘soot’, also used as an adjective ‘sooty’. It may have been given to someone with black hair. Among the Scandinavians it was used as a given name, Sóti, which was brought to England by the Vikings and is attested in the Lincs place-name Sotby and probably in the Lincs given name Sota cited below. This word, too, shows an occasional alternation between long and short vowel.

English: (i) occupational name from Middle English speller(e) 'preacher', also perhaps 'speaker (at an assembly)', 'story-teller', a derivative of Middle English spellen, spil(i)en (Old English spellian, spillian 'to speak, tell, relate'). Compare Roberto le Spellerson 'the speller's son', 1379 in Poll Tax (Scarisbrick with Hurlston, Lancs). (ii) nickname, occupational name from Middle English speller(e) 'one who can spell', perhaps also 'interpreter, one who can explain the written word', a derivative of Anglo-Norman French espeleir 'to mean, signify; to explain, interpret'. Such a name would be suitable for a clerk or for someone who pretended to have clerical skills, but it is unlikely to be the main source of the modern name. (iii) see Spiller (i, ii).

Early bearers: Robert Speller', 1202 in Assize Rolls (Lincs); Johannis le Speller' de Rudeham, 1267 in Close Rolls (Norfolk); Wydon' le Speller, 1285 in Assize Rolls (Essex); Gerard le Speller, 1301 in Parliament Rolls (Essex); Galfrido Speller, 1301 in Subsidy Rolls (Cliffe, Manfield, NR Yorks); Will. le Spelere, 1333 in Subsidy Rolls (Somerset); Johannes Speller, 1379 in Poll Tax (Acomb with Holgate, WR Yorks); Ricardus Speler', 1379 in Poll Tax (Banham, Norfolk); Willelmus Speler, 1381 in Poll Tax (Spalding, Lincs); Elizabeth Speller, 1588, Sarah Speller 1723 in IGI (Hornchurch, Essex); Olive Spiller, 1729, Abraham Speller, 1745 in IGI (Chipping Ongar, Essex); James Spellar, 1757 in IGI (Hatfield Heath, Essex); Abraham Speller, 1762, Peter Spiller, 1807 in IGI (Elsenham, Essex).

1 English: nickname, occupational name from Middle English **spelung* or **spiling*, of uncertain meaning. It could be a derivative of either Old English spel 'story, spell', or Old English spile, spele 'sport, revelry, play', and have a similar sense to either Speller, Spiller, or Spilman.

Early bearers: Edmund Spelyng, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Essex); Stephen Spelyng of Gestyngthorpe, 1345 in Patent Rolls (Essex); John Spelyng', 1367 in Feet of Fines (Bucks); Thomas Spillyng, 1377 in Poll Tax (Colchester, Essex); Willelmus Spelyng, 1381 in Poll Tax (Sible Hedingham, Essex); Alicia Spelyngge, 1381 in Poll Tax (Gestingthorpe, Essex); William Spelyng, 1403 in Patent Rolls (Bucks); John Spilling, 1563 in IGI (Bedingham, Norfolk); Thomas Spelling, 1590 in IGI (Clophill, Beds).

1 English: variant of Spilman.

Further information: Reaney suggests that Spel(l)man may alternatively derive from a Middle English compound of spel(l) 'discourse, homily, story' + -man, synonymous with Speller 'speaker, preacher, or professional story-teller'. While theoretically possible, there is no evidence for such a word in Middle English, and it seems an unnecessary hypothesis given that Spel(l)man has such a similar distribution to that of Spilman.

2 Irish: anglicized version of Mac Spealáin and Ó Spealáin, see Spillane.

Scottish, English: nickname from Middle English spense, spence, 'pantry, larder, storeroom' (Old French despense), for a servant employed in the pantry of a great house or monastery. Compare Spencer.

Further information: Alan de la Spense sometarius Domini Roberti de Shirlaunde, 1317 in Assize Rolls (Kent), is also called Alanus sometarius, Alanus seruiens, and Alanus homo Domini Roberti. He was the servant or pack-horse driver who carried provisions to the buttery. A Scottish family with the name Spens has become widespread throughout Europe, especially in France and Sweden. They are descended from Henry de Spens (died about 1300), who was compelled to submit to Edward I of England in 1296. The family became established in France in 1450 when Patrick de Spens went there as an officer in Charles VII's bodyguard of Scots Guards, settled in Gascony and married the heiress of the Estignols family; this family has since been known by the name de Spens d'Estignols. The surname Spens was also established in Sweden by Sir James Spens, originally sent as an ambassador of James I of England, and created Baron of Orreholmen in 1635.

Early bearers: England: Simon del Spens, de la Despense, 1300 in Gisborough Cartulary (Yorks); Amice atte Spense, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Essex); William atte Spence, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Worcs); Johanne atte Spense, 1379 in Poll Tax (Petworth, Sussex); Willelmus atte Spens', 1381 in Poll Tax (Bettiscombe, Dorset); Johannes Spens', 1381 in Poll Tax (South Elmham, Suffolk); Katheren Spence, 1542 in IGI (Laceby, Lincs); John Spence, 1560 in IGI (Cley next the Sea, Norfolk); Elizabeth Spence, 1562 in IGI (Gateshead, Durham); Georg Spence, 1564 in IGI

Spenceley

Variants: Spencely, Spencley, Spensley

- Current frequencies: GB 636, Ireland 0

- GB frequency 1881: 237

- Main GB location 1881: Yorks: esp. NR Yorks

English: probably, as suggested in Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames, a variant of Spendley in which the consonant cluster /ndl/ has become pronounced /nsl/. Spendley is itself a variant of Spendlow alias Spendlove. Redmonds provides circumstantial evidence from York Guild Register, where Thomas Spensley, (1477) can be compared with Walter Spenlowe (1433) and Elizabeth Spendlay (1522). Further evidence appears in IGI data for Oswaldkirk (NR Yorks), where Johanne Spencley (1547) is possibly identical with John Spenlay (1550), and in IGI data for Bishopwearmouth (Durham): Tho. Spenley (1648) and Richard Spencley (1651). The same developments occurred outside N England. Compare Henry Spendelowe, 1309 in Subsidy Rolls (Beds) with William Spendley, 1569, Thomas Spenley, 1571, and John Spensly, 1611 in IGI (Bedford, Beds).

Further information: Spencely is particularly well evidenced in upper Swaledale. However, the suggestion in Titford that it derived from the lost place-name Low Spenceley otherwise Spenselay in Grinton (Swaledale, NR Yorks) is doubtful. The place is not recorded before the 16th century and was quite likely named after the family that lived there. In any case the surname also occurs, apparently independently, in counties well away from NR Yorks.

Early bearers: Thomas Spensley, 1477 in York Guild Register; John Spensley, junior, 1538 in Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames (Grinton, NR Yorks); James Spenslay, 1549 in Swaledale Wills (Marrick, NR Yorks); Georg Spenslay, 1572, Ralph Spencley, 1648, Ralph Spenceley, 1675 in IGI (Grinton, NR Yorks); John Spensley, 1565 in IGI (Newton by Toft, Lincs); Ann Spenceley, 1566 in IGI (Linton in Craven, WR Yorks); Radulphus Spencley, 1569 in IGI (Wensley, NR Yorks); Humfray Spensley, 1576 in IGI (Pinchbeck, Lincs); Elizabeth Spensley, 1581 in IGI (Kildwick, WR Yorks); Elizabeth Spenceley, 1585 in IGI (Bishop Middleham, Durham); Bridgget Spensley, 1585 in IGI (Lissington, Lincs); Willia Spensley, 1609 in IGI (Faldingworth, Lincs); George Spenceley, 1627, Anna Maria Spencley, 1716 in IGI (Bedford, Beds); Isabella Spenceley, 1630 in IGI (Caistor, Lincs); John Spencely, 1654 in IGI (Durham, Durham); William Spenseley, 1721 in IGI (Huntingdon, Hunts).

English: occupational name from Middle English spenser(e), spencer(e) 'household steward, butler, almoner' (Anglo-Norman French espenser, Old French despensier), for someone who dispensed provisions or money. Compare Spence and Spender.

Further information: There is some dispute about the origins of the Spencer family, whose most famous member in recent times was the late Princess of Wales, born Lady Diana Spencer (1961–97). Some sources say that they are descended from William the Conqueror's steward, Robert Despencer. What is clear is that by the 15th century they had become prosperous from sheep farming in Northamptonshire. Robert Spencer (died 1627) was said to be the wealthiest man in England. Their titles have included Earls of Sunderland and Earls Spencer; and through the female line the 5th Earl of Sunderland also became Duke of Marlborough in 1733. This connection was the result of the marriage, in 1700, of the 3rd Duke of Sunderland to the daughter of John Churchill, 1st Duke of Marlborough. The youngest son of this union, John Spencer (1708–46), was the father of the 1st Earl Spencer (1734–83).

English: (i) apparently a variant of Speak (2), alias Speck. Compare Margaret Spetche, 1583, Roger Speck, 1616, Ellen Speck, 1626 in IGI (Aycliffe, Durham). It may go back directly to Old French espech(e) as a variant of espek 'woodpecker', but that first French form is not recorded in Middle English, so Spetch may be a later development. Norman, English: (i) occupational name, status name from Anglo-Norman French \(e)spigurnel*, **sprigonel* ‘sealer of writs’ (in the royal chancery). It is a word of obscure origin and is only certainly recorded in its Medieval Latin forms (e)spigurnellus and sprigonellus (which are attested in English documents from 1193 onwards) and in the related Latin terms for the office itself: espicornauca (1279), espicornelia (about 1283), and spigurnalia (1286). Members of the Spigurnel family in the late 12th and 13th centuries may have taken their name from having held the office (which was perhaps a hereditary one), though there is no independent confirmation of this. (ii) nickname, possibly from Middle English, Old French, and Anglo-Norman French spigurnel(le), Modern English spignel, the name of a herb, particularly the umbellifer Meum athamanticum. Its aromatic root was formerly dried, ground up, and used in medicine as a carminative or stimulant or as a spice in cookery. It might have been given as a nickname for a herbalist or physician. However, the earliest bearers of the surname were members of a high-ranking family in royal service, one of whom was Edmund le Espycurnel’ (1285), where the use of the definite article points strongly to the sense suggested in (i).

Further information: Much of the geographical distribution of the medieval surname corresponds to the location of properties known to have been held by members of the Spigurnel family who were in service to the king. In 1207 king John granted Godfrey Spigurnel 5 bovates of land and a mill in Skegby, Notts (Charter Rolls). One of his grandsons, Henry Spigurnel (about 1263–1328), was a law lord with a reputation dispensing harsh justice; he had estates in Warwicks, Beds, Berks, Bucks, Oxon, Essex, and Leics. Edmund Spigurnel (Henry’s brother?) held manors in Skegby (Notts) and Stondon Massey (Essex), and it may be the same Edmund, or a relative of the same name, who had property in Hants. The loss of the medial syllable seen in Spicknell occurs already in Middle English: Johanna Spignell’ (1379).

Early bearers: Richard Spigurnel, 1192 in Pipe Rolls (London); Walter Spigurnell, 1205 in Curia Regis Rolls (Yorks); Godefrido Spigurnel, 1209 in Pipe Rolls (Notts); John Spigurnel, 1259 in Crowland Abbey Estates (Cambs); Nicholas Spickernell, 1275 in Hundred Rolls (Norfolk); Edmund Spigurnel, son of Nicholas Spigurnel, 1275 in Hundred Rolls (Skegby, Notts); Hugh Sprigonel’, 1297 in Lenton Priory Accounts (Lenton, Notts); Edmund Spygurnel, 1280 in New Forest Documents (Ford hundred, Hants); Edmund le Espycurnel’, Geoffrey Espigurnel, 1285 in Assize Rolls (Essex); Adam Sprigunel (Sprigonel), 1297 in Wakefield Court Rolls (Sandal Magna, WR Yorks); John Spigurnel of Staundone (Stondon Massey, Essex), lord of Skegby, 1308 in Inquisitiones post Mortem (Skegby, Notts); Henrico Spigurnel, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Bobbingsworth, Essex); Beatrice Spigurnel, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Stondon Massey, Essex); William Spigurnel, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Southwood in Bosham, Sussex); Thomas Spigurnel, king’s esquire, 1365 in Patent Rolls (London); Johannes Spygurnel, 1379 in Poll Tax (Kings Hill, Warwicks); Johannes Spygurnel’, 1379 in Poll Tax (Churchover, Warwicks); Johannes Spigurnel, 1379 in Poll Tax (Crimsham, Sussex); Johanna Spignell’, 1379 in Poll Tax (Old Fishbourne in Bosham, Sussex); Johannes Spegurnel’, 1381 in Poll Tax (Mowsley, Leics); William Spickernell, 1425 in Patent Rolls (Berks); Johan Spickernell, 1565 in IGI

The Spiller family of Colyton (Devon) may have taken their name from games played in Spilcombe in Monkton parish, a chapelry of Colyton. Spilcombe is recorded as Spillecumb, 1238, Spelecomb(e), 1423 in Place-Names of Devon, where it is explained as 'valley where sports or games were held'. (ii) occupational name; an alternative but less likely source is an unrecorded Middle English **spiler*, **speler* 'maker of spills', a derivative of Middle English spile, spele 'a fragment of wood, a splinter'. (iii) nickname occasionally perhaps from Middle English spiller 'one who causes ruin', a spoiler or waster. 1 English: relationship name from the early Middle English personal name Spileman, Speleman, late Old English **Spilemann*. Its original sense was probably 'entertainer' (literally 'play-man'), corresponding to Middle High German spilmann, Middle Low German speelman. Compare Spillman. However, although spile 'play, sport, revelry' and spilen 'to play' occur in Middle English, there is no evidence for a word **spileman*, and all the English evidence points to this surname being a relationship name rather than an occupational name.

Spirit

Variants: Spirett, Spright

- Current frequencies: GB 77, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 49
- Main GB location 1881: Durham

1 English: nickname from Middle English spuret, of uncertain origin. It might be a reduced form of Middle English Sporehard 'spur hard', no doubt for a horseman, attested in the name of Galfr. Sporehard, 1327, Galfr. Sporard, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Brailes, Warwicks). However, there is no evidence for Sporehard in the records of N England, and a reduction to Spuret to account for the 1287 bearer below would be surprisingly early. Perhaps the name represents an unrecorded Middle English **spuret* 'little spur'. The change to Spirit, by folk etymology, is recorded by Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames, noting that Joshua Spurrirt of Holbeck is likely to be identical with Joshua Spirit or Spright of Holbeck, 1753–61 in Parish Registers (Leeds).

Early bearers: Richard Spuret, 1287 in Bolton Priory Computus (WR Yorks); Robertus Sporet, 1379, Benedictus Sporet, 1379 in Poll Tax (Clint, WR Yorks); Richard Spurrirt or Sporet 1524–43 in Early Tudor Craven (Appletreewick, WR Yorks); Anthonie Spurret, 1564 in IGI (Burnsall in Craven, WR Yorks); Jane Spurret, 1638 in IGI (Easingwold, NR Yorks); Richard Spurrirt, Sperritt 1672 in Hearth Tax (Appletreewick, WR Yorks); Thomas Spright, 1730 in IGI (Dent, WR Yorks); Richard Spurrirt, 1740 in IGI (Bolton Abbey, WR Yorks); John Spurrirt, 1786, Elizabeth Spirett, 1819 in IGI (Leeds, WR Yorks); John Spearritt, 1803 in IGI (Manchester, Lancs); Stephen Spirit, 1852 in IGI (Houghton le Spring, Durham).

2 English: (i) relationship name perhaps from Middle English **Spirhard*, a Norman French borrowing of an unrecorded Continental Germanic personal name composed of spir 'spear' + hard 'brave'. Whether this name has survived to the present time is unclear, for although the medieval name is recorded in Yorks there is no evidence that it lies behind or influenced the pronunciation of the name in (1). The Norfolk form Spurrett (1615) shows a post-medieval change in pronunciation. For alternative interpretations of Spirhard see (ii). (ii) nickname from Middle English spir (Old English spīr) 'shoot, blade, reed' + the Old French suffix -(h)ard, for a tall thin man, perhaps, and synonymous with Spearing. For this type of hybrid compound see Sherrard. Alternatively Spirhard might mean 'breathe hard', or 'search hard', a compound of either Middle English spiren (Old French espīrer) 'to breathe out' or Middle English spiren (Old English spīrian) 'to enquire, search' + the Middle English adverb hard. Some of the following post-medieval bearers may alternatively belong with (1) or (3).

Further information: Germanic personal names in Spir- are rare but one occurs in the patronym of a Norman tenant, 1086 in Domesday Book: Eudo filius Spireuic (Lincs), filius Spirewich or Sperewich (Cambs), filius Spireuic (Suffolk), filius Spīruwic (Norfolk). He also appears as Eudo filius Spīrewin in Domesday Book (Norfolk), where the element -win 'friend' has been substituted for -wic or -wig 'battle'. This last form is possibly recorded in Ricardus Spūrwyn, 1381 in Poll Tax (Lathom, Lancs), where Middle spur 'spur' may have been substituted for Spir-. See also Spivey. Eudo Spirewic was of Breton origin, and the ancestor of the Tattershalls of Tattershall (Lancs).

Early bearers: Osbert Spirhard, 1206 in Curia Regis Rolls (Norfolk); Robert Spirhard, 1219 in Assize Rolls (Yorks); Geoffrey Spirhard, 1221 in Cotton Tiberius B ii (Suffolk); Robertus Spirard, Willelmus Spirard', 1379 in Poll Tax (Allerton Gledhow, WR Yorks); Johannes Spirard', Ricardus Spyrard', 1379 in Poll Tax (Hambleton, WR Yorks); Magota Spirard, 1379 in Poll Tax (Tadcaster, WR Yorks); Thomas Spyrat, 1597 in IGI (East Kirkby, Lincs); Joane Spirit, 1605 in IGI (Worcester, Worcs); Dorothy Spurrirt, 1615 in IGI (Bale, Norfolk); Tristrum Spright, 1687 in IGI (Appleby, Lincs); Jane Spright, 1749 in IGI (Norwich, Norfolk).

References: Tengvik, p. 198; Domesday People, p. 195.

3 English: the following bearers clearly point to another possible origin, but remain unexplained. Perhaps it is variant of Middle English skirwhit(e) 'skirret, water parsnip' (see Skerritt), altered by folk etymology through association with Middle English spir(e) 'stalk, blade of a plant'. The Gloucs form Spurrett (1610) shows a post-medieval change in pronunciation.

Early bearers: Editha Spriwhit, 1379 in Poll Tax (Lydiard Tregoze, Wilts); Roberto Spyrewhyt, 1379 in Poll Tax (Bradford on Avon, Wilts); Johannes Spirwite, Willelmus Spirwhite, Ricardus Sparwite, 1381 in Poll Tax (Holbeach, Lincs); John Spurrett, 1610, Thomas Spurret, 1672 in IGI (Stow on the Wold, Gloucs); William Spirit, 1616 in IGI (Shepton Mallet, Somerset); Samson Spirit, 1743 in IGI (Wickham, Berks); Sarah Spirit, 1751 in IGI (Aldbourne, Wilts).

1 English: (i) nickname, relationship name from Middle English spring(h)ald ‘youth, stripling’, in modern parlance ‘teenager’, first recorded in the 15th century but likely to be older. It may also have been used as a personal name. The word is probably related to Old English springan ‘to spring up’. (ii) nickname from Middle English springald, Old French espringalle, Anglo-Norman French springalde ‘catapult, a siege machine for hurling missiles’, perhaps given to a soldier who operated one in battle. Compare Mangnall (2), which has a similar sense. The French word is probably a borrowing of a Germanic word with the basic sense ‘that which springs up’, and may be identical in origin with (i) above. Some of the post-medieval bearers may belong with sense (2).

Early bearers: given names: Springald, 1195 in Pipe Rolls (Gloucs); Springaldus, 1197 in Pipe Rolls; Springoud, 1220 in Curia Regis Rolls (Essex).

References: Tooth, p. 71; Debrabandere, at Springa(e).

2 English: nickname from Middle English spornegold ‘spurn gold’, perhaps for someone who despised wealth, though the name may have been used ironically. By metathesis of -r-, Spornegold may have become confused in later times with Springold in (1) above; compare the 1327 Suffolk example.

Early bearers: Robertus Sp[or]negold, 1327, Robertus Spornegold, 1341 in Subsidy Rolls (Suffolk);

English: (i) nickname, relationship name from Middle English sprot, sprat (Old English sprott) ‘small species of herring, sprat’, perhaps for a small person. (ii) nickname, relationship name from Middle English sprote, sprotte (Old English sprotā, sprot) ‘a shoot, twig, rod’, perhaps for a small, thin person. It gave rise to Sprott and Sproat, and was more or less synonymous with Middle English sprout ‘(new) shoot of a plant, bud’, hence perhaps the alternation between Sprot, Sproat, and Spr(o)ut in some family names.

- Current frequencies: GB 112, Ireland 2
- GB frequency 1881: 52
- Main GB location 1881: Norfolk; WR Yorks; also Devon

English: nickname apparently from Middle English spore, spure (Old English spora, spura) 'spur' or the derived verb sporen 'to urge, incite' + daunce 'dance'. Alternatively the first element may be spurnen, spornen 'stumble, trip, kick' or 'spurn, reject' with assimilation of the first -n- giving Spordance. This last sense would make it an antonym of the nickname Makedaunce (see Jönsjö, Nicknames, p. 126).

Further information: For other Middle English nicknames with spurn- as the first element see Jönsjö, Nicknames, p. 168 and MED, at spurnen.

Early bearers: Joane Spurdle, 1703 in IGI (Crewkerne, Somerset); Joan Spurdell, 1731 in IGI (South Perrott, Dorset).

Spurge

- Current frequencies: GB 79, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 127
- Main GB location 1881: Essex

1 English: nickname perhaps from Middle English sparage, sparge, sperage, sperge (Old French esparge, Anglo-Norman French sparge) 'asparagus'. The early post-medieval spelling Spurge may reflect confusion (noted in MED) with the Middle English plant name spurge (Old French espurge) 'spurge'. It may have been a nickname for someone who grew or liked eating asparagus.

Early bearers: Willelmus Sparesche, 1379 in Poll Tax (Rushden, Northants); Clare Spurge, 1540 in IGI (Farnham, Surrey); Johanna Spurge, 1570 in IGI (Bocking, Essex).

- Current frequencies: GB 1089, Ireland 13
- GB frequency 1881: 949
- Main GB location 1881: E Anglia: esp. Essex

English: apparently a variant of Spurden. Compare Robert Spurgen, 1602, Joseph Spurdens, 1634 in IGI (Stepney, Middx); John Spurgeon, 1681, Richd. Spurden, 1711 in IGI (Great Oakley, Essex); Fra. John Spurgeon, 1719, Eliz. Spurdens, 1748, Elizabeth Spurden, 1761, John Spurgens, 1838 in IGI (Dickleburgh, Norfolk). However, the change in the medial consonant is difficult to explain without an intermediary **Spurdion* (or something similar), which is not on record and would be an irregular development of Spurden. The name may have been influenced by confusion with Pridgeon and Spridgeon but the evidence for this is slight.

Further information: The story that the Spurgeon family of Essex were 16th-century immigrants from the Netherlands (related in Titford) does not seem to be supported by any evidence.

Early bearers: Agnetam Spurgion, 1558 in IGI (Glemsford, Suffolk); Mary Spurgin, 1561 in IGI (Great Canfield, Essex); Alice Spurgen, 1562 in IGI (South Walsham, Norfolk); Joan Spurgeon, 1566 in IGI (Earls Colne, Essex); Robert Spurgen, 1621, William Spurging, 1707 in IGI (Stepney, Middx); George Spergeon, 1748 in IGI (Norwich, Norfolk); Lydia Spurgeon, 1771 in IGI (Lowestoft, Suffolk).

- Current frequencies: GB 380, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 318
- Main GB location 1881: WR Yorks; also Lancs

English: locative name; as Redmonds has shown this is from Scout in Northowram (WR Yorks), recorded as Staynclif in 1309 and Stancliff Skoute (the home of Edward Stankliff) in 1536. No evidence has been found to link the modern surname with other WR Yorks places similarly named, such as Stancliffe in Kirkheaton, Stonecliff Lodge in Shitlington, Stancliffe in Bank Newton, or Staincliffe in Batley. Derivation from Stancliffe Hall in Darley (Derbys) is difficult to assess, since all the earliest forms cited in Place-Names of Derbys appear to be surnames, and the Hall may therefore have been named from the family (a branch of the Northowram family?), which is recorded there since before 1231. Here belongs Alicia de Stanclif, 1381 in Poll Tax (Darley, Derbys).

Early bearers: Elyas de Stanclif, 1202 in Pipe Rolls (Yorks); Hugh son of Henry de Stanclif, 1274 in Wakefield Court Rolls (Hipperholme, WR Yorks); John de Stanclif, 1347 in Patent Rolls; Johannes de Stayncliff, 1377, Johannes de Stayneclif, 1379 in Poll Tax (Northowram, WR Yorks); William de Stanclif,

Standage

Variants: Standidge, Stannage

- Current frequencies: GB 178, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 182
- Main GB location 1881: WR Yorks; also Bucks and Surrey

1 English: locative name, probably a variant of Standish. From Quarter Sessions records relating to Huddersfield (WR Yorks), Redmonds cites Richard Standish or Standidge (1679) and William Stannage or Standidge (1687). There is no evidence to link the surname with Standedge in Marsden (WR Yorks), recorded as Stanegge about 1272, but this place-name may have influenced local pronunciation of Standish.

Early bearers: Anne Stannage, 1597, John Stanlage, 1599 in IGI (Snaith, WR Yorks); Robert Standage, 1617 in IGI (Otley, WR Yorks); George Standidge, 1625 in IGI (Normanton, WR Yorks).

References: Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames; Place-Names of WR Yorks 2, p. 277.

2 English: locative name; the Leics and Bucks name may alternatively be from Stanedge Grange in Hartington Nether Quarter (Derbys), recorded as Stanege in 1286, or Stange End in Outseats (Derbys), recorded as Stannage End in 1656; but evidence is needed for this, and the midlands surnames may reflect migration of the name in (1).

Early bearers: John Standidge, 1590 in IGI (Little Horwood, Bucks); Katherine Stange, 1600, Mary Stannidge, 1609, Edward Standige, 1646 in IGI (Bottesford, Leics); Elizabeth Stannidge, 1608 in IGI (Long Clawson, Leics); Faith Standage, 1615 in IGI (Melton Mowbray, Leics).

English: (i) nickname, perhaps for someone with a heavy stride or an awkward way of walking, from a conjectural Middle English word **stauper*, **stouper* or, with substitution of the pejorative suffix -ard, Middle English **staupard*, **stoupard*. Compare 19th-century Whitby (NR Yorks) dialect stauper 'a clumsy fellow, a clown', from the dialect verb staupe, stowp, stoope 'to walk clumsily and heavily', which is recorded in English Dialect Dictionary from Northumb and Cumb southwards as far as Derbys and Lincs. The name was sometimes confused with Stobbart and perhaps with Stoford. (ii) occupational name, perhaps for a maker of stoups. **Stauper*, **Stouper*, and **Stoper* would be unrecorded derivatives of Middle English **staupe*, stoupe, stope (Old Scandinavian staupe, reinforced by Middle Dutch stoope), 'a jug, often made of leather; a measure for liquids; a vessel or container for holy water'. This explanation accounts for the variation between Stauper, Stoper, Stoooper, and possibly Stopper, but not the forms with final -d, -t or -th, unless through false association with other names, such as (1) above. Early bearers: England: Symond Stauper, 1589 in IGI (Brompton by Sawdon, NR Yorks); Rauphe

Staporth or Stawporthe, 1589, Isack Stauper, 1604, Philip Stawport, 1675, Henry Stauphard, 1682, Thomas Stapert, 1792, Ann Stappard, 1848 in IGI (Newcastle upon Tyne, Northumb); Stephen Stawper, 1602, Alice Stoper, 1633, in IGI (Scarborough, NR Yorks); John Stoooper, 1623 in IGI (Pontefract, WR Yorks); Phillas Stawpert, 1633 in IGI (Newton Reigny, Cumb); Isabell Stauper, 1644, John Stawpert or Stobbart, 1677, William Stoppert, 1757 in IGI (Hexham, Northumb); Margaret Stopper, 1656, George Stawpert, 1657, Robert Stauper, 1672 in IGI (Gateshead, Durham); Margaret Stoper, 1683, Isable Stawper, 1697 in IGI (Simonburn, Northumb); Michael Stapert, 1694, John Stoptart, 1780 in IGI (Chester le Street, Durham).

Starkin

Variants: Starkings

- Current frequencies: GB 12, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 4
- Main GB location 1881: Herts

English: (i) relationship name perhaps from an unrecorded Old French personal name **Starkin*, a pet form of Continental Germanic names beginning in Stark- ('strong'), such as Starc(w)ulf and Starcher, both of which appear in 1086 as names of Domesday Book tenants in E Anglia: Starcolf (Norfolk) and Starker (Suffolk). However, no medieval evidence for Starkin as a given name or a surname has been found, unless Hugh Tarchin, 1307 in Subsidy Rolls (Ware, Herts), bears a variant of this name in which initial S- has been lost. (ii) nickname; an alternative possibility is a derivation from an unrecorded Middle English **starking* 'strong one' (see Stark) but in the absence of any medieval evidence this is highly conjectural.

Early bearers: Katheryn Starkyn, 1563 in IGI (Bishops Stortford, Herts); Thomas Starkinge, 1576 in IGI (Norwich, Norfolk); Cystely Starkin, 1579; Henry Starking, 1718 in IGI (Wells next the Sea, Norfolk).

English: probably a locative name from Staverton (Gloucs or Northants), both recorded as Starton in post-medieval documents, or Stareton (Warwicks), which has the same origin but shows reduced forms in medieval times (e.g. Starton in 1279).

Further information: The early and persistent -i- or -y- is unexpected, but late-medieval Martin often appears in place-names of the type Marton, e.g. in Wilts, Worcs, and Lincs, under the influence of the male saint's name and given name; Startin may appear for Starton by analogy with this. This name is not from Staverton (Devon), whose early forms are completely different.

Early bearers: Nicholas Startyn of Bromwych, 1351 in Patent Rolls; Henricus Startyn, 1377 in Poll Tax (Ellastone, Staffs); Robertus Starton', 1379 in Poll Tax (Grafton Underwood, Northants); Eliz. Startin, 1560

Startup

English: nickname from Middle English sterren, stirten, sturten (Old English styrtan) '(to) start, leap, jump' + up(pe), hup, hop 'up'. It might have denoted a messenger or a hasty person (compare Sturtivant) or perhaps 'an upstart', a sense of start-up first recorded in about 1598 in OED. Some of the variations in the Middle English vowel (-e- spellings in W England and a -u- spelling in Rutland) are dialectally puzzling but no alternative explanation can be offered.

Further information: OED also records from 1517 onwards a noun startup, stertup, startop, sturtup 'a kind of high-legged boot, worn by rustics', but whether this sense was current in Middle English and was therefore a possible source of a nickname is unknown.

Early bearers: SW England: Stephen Sturthup, 1190 in Pipe Rolls (Wilts); Henry Stertup of Ledwelle, 1327 in Patent Rolls (Oxon); Johanne Stertup, 1381 in Poll Tax (Great Barrington, Berks); Johannes Sturthop (for Sturthop), 1381 in Poll Tax (Widford, Gloucs); Jone Startup, 1548 in IGI (Bampton, Oxon); Margaret Stirtup, 1568 in IGI (Kington Saint Michael, Wilts); William Sturtup, 1607 in IGI (Kington Saint Michael, Wilts); Edith Stirtup, 1626 in IGI (Henbury, Gloucs); Mary Sturtup, 1768 in IGI (Freshford, Somerset).

English: locative name, probably from a locality on the River Trent formerly known as Stather (Old Scandinavian stǫðvar, ‘jetties, landing-places, wharves’) in the neighbouring parishes of Burton upon Stather and Flixborough (Lincs). It is attested in Burton Statheher (1208), Flikesburgh Stather (1299), Burton cum Stather (1343), Southstathere (in Burton parish, 1347), Northstather (in Burton parish, 1502), Burton iuxta Stather (1544), and Burton with the Stather (1580).

Further information: The 1379 bearer, John de Stather, appears in an unlocated list of taxpayers following the list for Hive in Howdenshire (ER Yorks). Hive is from Old English hýð ‘landing place on a river’, and is one of several places in the vicinity with wharves and access to the rivers Ouse and Humber. John de Stather may therefore have been a shipman. Burton upon Stather and Flixborough Stather lie only about ten miles south-east of Hive, which would have easily been reached via the Trent’s confluence with the Ouse.

1 English: locative name. Redmonds argues that the WR Yorks and Lincs surname is primarily from Stead (le Stede, 12th century) near Storiths in Hazlewood (Skipton, WR Yorks), which became a grange of Bolton Priory. The family appears to have moved down Wharfedale to Burley, where Redmonds believes that the family gave its name to the farmstead there known from the 13th century as Stede (modern Stead). A long-standing connection of Bolton Priory with Wentworth (WR Yorks) may also explain the occurrence of the name there and elsewhere in S Yorks by the late 14th century.

Alternative origins might include Stead Farm in Nether Hoyland (WR Yorks), although this may also have been named from a branch of the same family, and Stidd in Ribchester (Lincs) but it is not known if this produced a surviving hereditary surname.

Early bearers: Gamil de Stede, 1189–1219 in Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames (Bolton priory cartulary, WR Yorks); Richard de Stede, 1276 in Assize Rolls (Lincs); Peter del Stede, 1314 in Yorks Deeds (Austby, WR Yorks); Robert del Stede, 1336 in Calverley Charters (Yorks); Laurencius del Stede, 1377, Petrus del Stede, 1379 in Poll Tax (Wentworth, WR Yorks); Petrus and Robertus del Stede, 1379 in Poll Tax (Burley in Wharfedale, WR Yorks); Robertus del Stede, 1379 in Poll Tax (East Keswick, WR Yorks); Jacobus del Stede, 1379 in Poll Tax (Addingham, WR Yorks); Robertus del Stede, 1379 in Poll Tax (Potter Newton, WR Yorks); Peter del Stede, 1408 in Yorks Deeds (Askwith, WR Yorks); Johannes Stead, 1553 in IGI (Oswaldkirk, NR Yorks); Leonarde Stead, 1554 in IGI (Pateley Bridge, WR Yorks); Margret Stead, 1571, Nycolas Stead, 1578 in IGI (Bradfield, WR Yorks); Graice Stead, 1585 in IGI (Otley, WR Yorks); Agnes Steed, 1568 in IGI, Alice Stead, 1624 in IGI (Snaith, WR Yorks); Alice Stead, 1634 in IGI (Middleton by Oldham, Lincs).

2 English: from one or other minor places which, like those mentioned in (1), were named with Middle English stede 'farm, estate; hamlet' (Old English stede). One of these is The Stude in Church Lawford (Warwicks). The word was especially common in minor names and field names in S and SE England. Some of the following examples without a preposition may alternatively belong with (3). Early bearers: John atte Stede, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Norfolk); Philip del Stede, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Warwicks); Adam Stede, 1377, 1381 in Poll Tax (Coven, Staffs); Stephanus Stede, 1379 in Poll Tax (Warnford, Hants); Gilberto Stede, 1379 in Poll Tax (Westonbury with Weston, Herefs); Robertus atte Stede, 1379 in Poll Tax (Blofield, Norfolk); Robertus Stede, 1379 in Poll Tax (West Grinstead, Sussex); Willelmus Stede, 1381 in Poll Tax (Tideswell, Derbys); Johannes Stede, 1381 in Poll Tax (Bradford Peverell, Dorset); Johannes Stede, 1381 in Poll Tax (Creting Saint Peter, Suffolk); Wyllm Stead, 1553 in IGI (Norwich, Norfolk); Henrie Steade, 1564, Willm Stead, 1566 in IGI (Lexden, Essex); Priscilla Stead, 1570 in IGI (Layham, Suffolk); Radulphi Steade, 1570, Rici Stead, 1574 in IGI (Pembroke, Herefs); Henrie Stead, 1593 in IGI (Fernhurst, Sussex); Jane Stead, 1626 in IGI (Ludlow, Shrops); Richard Stead, 1629 in IGI (Canterbury, Kent); Ann Steed, 1647, Roberta Stead, 1697 in IGI (Wells next the Sea, Norfolk); Mary Steed, 1663, Bridget Stead, 1679 in IGI (Lavenham, Suffolk); Simon Davy Stead, 1725, Jane Steed, 1727 in IGI (Hornchurch, Essex).

Steeley

Variants: Steely, Stillie

- Current frequencies: GB 137, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 67
- Main GB location 1881: Warwicks; also ER Yorks; Durham

1 English: locative name from Steeley (in Lanchester, Durham), recorded as Steley, 1284 in Durham Place-Names.

Early bearers: Margaret Steely, 1567 in IGI (Lanchester, Durham); Cecily Steley, 1589 in IGI (Witton le Wear, Durham); Jhon Steley, 1593 in IGI (Monk Hesledon, Durham); William Steely, 1863 in IGI (Kingston upon Hull, ER Yorks).

2 English: the 1827 Warwicks example below might be an altered form of Steley, see Staley, but the surname in Westm is more problematic. Staveley (but not its reduced form Staley) is a well recorded surname in Westm (including Kendal), and derives from the Westm place-name. However, it is unlikely that Sta(ve)ley would have developed to Steeley.

There are also people named Stell and Steel in the right area, such as Steven Stell, 1592, Susanne Steel, 1595 in IGI (Penrith, Cumb), and Thomas Steele, 1561 in IGI (Kendal, Westm), but the addition of an excrescent -y is difficult to explain. It is probably safer to infer that the Durham surname in (1) may have migrated to Westm.

Early bearers: John Stelye, 1570, Elizabeth Stelye, 1578 in IGI (Askham, Westm); Isabel Steely, 1572, William Stelie, 1592 in IGI (Kendal, Westm); Agnes Steleye, 1578, John Stelley, 1819 in IGI (Lowther, Westm); John Stelye, 1594 in IGI (Newton Reigny, Cumb); John Stelie, 1616, Sarah Stealey, 1710 in IGI (Penrith, Cumb); John Steely, 1694 in IGI (Dacre, Cumb); William Steely, 1827 in IGI (Haseley, Warwicks).

 Scottish, English: relationship name from the personal name Stephen, a partially vernacular form of Biblical Latin Stephanus, Greek Stephanas (from the Greek stephanos ‘crown’). The fully vernacular Modern English form is Steven, and the -ph- spelling is due to clerks’ knowledge of the Biblical form. It is normally pronounced with /v/, but the occurrence of Steffen(s) in Devon in the 17th century suggests that it may locally have had a spelling-pronunciation with /f/.

English, Scottish: occupational name, status name from Middle English steward 'steward' (Old English stigward 'household guardian'). In the Anglo-Saxon period this title was used of an officer controlling the domestic affairs of a household, especially of the royal household. After the Norman Conquest it was also used more widely as the native equivalent of Senescall, for the steward of a manor or manager of an estate. In Scotland the term was also used of a magistrate originally appointed by the king to administer crown lands forming a stewardry.

Further information: Stewart or Stuart is the surname of one of the great families of Scotland, the royal family of Scotland from the 14th century and of England from 1603, when James VI of Scotland acceded to the English throne as James I, until 1688. The House of Stewart is descended from a Norman baron of Breton origin, Walter FitzAlan (1106–1177), who was appointed High Steward of Scotland by King David I in about 1150. His descendants held this hereditary office in successive generations until, in 1371, Robert Stewart, 7th Hereditary High Steward, succeeded to the throne of Scotland. Many branches of the Stuart family remained in Britain after the flight in 1688 of the head of the house of Stuart, King James II of England and VII of Scotland, but not every bearer of the surname can claim relationship with the royal house, even in Scotland. Every great house in medieval Scotland and England had its steward, and in many cases the office gave rise to a hereditary surname.

Straker

- Current frequencies: GB 1144, Ireland 6
- GB frequency 1881: 544
- Main GB location 1881: NE England: esp. Northumb; also London

1 English: occupational name from Middle English **straker*, **streker*, unrecorded derivatives of northern Middle English straken (Old English strācian) ‘to stroke or rub (something), to smear (something with a substance)’ and Middle English streken (Old Scandinavian strjúka) ‘to stroke, make smooth, spread or smear (a substance) evenly’. In some instances **straker*, **streker* may have denoted a waxer of shoe-leather or a sharpener of knives, senses which fit the occupations of the 1352 and 1440 York freemen cited below (a shoemaker and a cutler). In other cases a straker or streker may have been a polisher of goods made of wood, metal, or other materials, or he may have been an official corn measurer, who used a flat stick or strike to level off the quantity of corn he was measuring. See also the etymologically related Striker and Stroker, which were probably to some extent synonymous and interchangeable with Straker, as implied for example by John Straker, 1587, Margaret Stryker, 1603, Mary Streaker, 1609 in IGI (Saint Giles Cripplegate, London).

Early bearers: Robert le Straker, 1246 in Assize Rolls (Lancs); Robert Stracour, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Cumb); William Strakour, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Yorks); William Strakour, 1327 in Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames (Osballdwick, NR Yorks); Adam Stracour, cordwainer (i.e. shoemaker), 1352 in York Freemen's Register; Nicholous Strakour, 1377 in Poll Tax (Clennell, Northumb); William Strakour, cutler, 1440 in York Freemen's Register; Eduardus Strayker, 1550 in IGI (Sutterton, Lincs); Willm Strakar, 1563, Thomas Straker, 1575, John Streaker, 1602 in IGI (Donington in Holland, Lincs); Alice Streaker, 1581 in IGI (Hagworthingham, Lincs); Philippus Strayker, 1593 in IGI (Saint Denis, York); Gorge Streakar, 1617 in IGI (Saint Mary Castlegate, York); Thomas Straker, 1619, Isabell Streaker, 1683, Joseph Straker, 1779 in IGI (Newcastle upon Tyne, Northumb); Thomas Straker, tailor, 1653 in York Freemen's Register.

2 English: occupational name, perhaps for someone who made iron strakes, working in a smithy, or for someone who used strakes to make wheels or ploughshares. This would be a plausible, though unrecorded derivative of Middle English strake (Old English **stracca*) ‘band, strip, strake’, most often used to denote the strips of iron that formed the rim of a cartwheel or that fastened a ploughshare. Middle English strake also denoted a wooden plank, including the planking on a ship's hull, so the surname could also have been given to someone who made planks or who built ships. However, there is no contextual evidence to confirm either of these possibilities.

Stribley

English: unexplained. William and John Strebylhyll, 1524 in Subsidy Rolls (Chittlehampton, Devon), were replaced a year later by William Stryblyne and Joan Streblyn widow. If the 1569 record is a genuine variant of earlier Strebyly in the same parish, it looks as if Strebyly(n) may be a corrupt form of a lost place-name Strebylhyll or the like, possibly in Devon but unidentified, which had migrated to mid-Cornwall. Further information: This supposed place-name resembles Treblehayes, recorded as Thurbelhegh, 1333 in Subsidy Rolls (Devon), but is probably not identical with it since this place is in Membury in the south-east of the county.

Early bearers: Lewis, William Strebly, 1543 in Subsidy Rolls (Little Petherick, Cornwall); John Strebly, 1543 in Subsidy Rolls (Saint Breock, Cornwall); Thomas Streblyn, 1569 in Cornwall Muster (Little Petherick, Cornwall); Richard Stribly, 1597 in IGI (Saint Columb Major, Cornwall); William Stribley, 1602 in IGI (Saint Issey, Cornwall); Alicia Stribley, 1601, Arthur Striple, 1604 in IGI (Padstow, Cornwall).

Strike

Variants: Strick, Streek

- Current frequencies: GB 638, Ireland 1
- GB frequency 1881: 493
- Main GB location 1881: Cornwall

English: (i) nickname from Middle English strike, **streke* (Old English strica) 'a line or streak', perhaps with reference to a mark on the face, a differently coloured streak of hair, or thinness of body. (ii) relationship name from Old English **Stric(a)*, either a personal name derived from the nickname in (i) above, or perhaps a borrowing of the Old Scandinavian personal name Stríkr, though this is would be a less likely source for the Cornwall surname. Evidence for the personal name is scarce and confined to Northants.

Wulnoð Strices sune (son of Stric) is recorded in 972 (Cartularium Saxonicum), while Domesday Book states that in 1066 a man named Stric held Bozeat and Wollaston (Northants). The village next to Wollaston is called Strixton 'Stric's estate' (see Strickson).

Early bearers: Alestan Strick, 1086 in Domesday Book (Essex); Richard Stric, 1170 in Pipe Rolls (Yorks); William Stric, 1274 in Hundred Rolls (Essex); Nicholas Stryke, 1296 in Subsidy Rolls (Sussex); John Strike, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Yealmpton and Noss, Devon); William Strike, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Kingsbridge, Devon); Ann Strike, 1591 in IGI (Pillaton, Cornwall); Robart Stricke, 1599 in IGI (Camborne, Cornwall); Florence Strike, 1608 in IGI (Bodmin, Cornwall); Marten Strieck, 1658 in IGI (Saint Buryan, Cornwall); Mary Strike, 1659, Elizabeth Stricke, 1670 in IGI (Gimingham, Norfolk); Garthred Strike, 1696 in IGI (Linkinhorne, Cornwall).

Striker

- Current frequencies: GB 16, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 24
- Main GB location 1881: Middx

English: (i) occupational name from an unrecorded Middle English **striker*, probably in most instances a derivative of Middle English striken 'to stroke, rub, make (something) smooth, spread (something) evenly'. The exact sense of the surname cannot be determined without defining contexts, but it was probably synonymous with the etymologically related Straker and Stroker, and could therefore have denoted a waxer or polisher of goods made of leather, metal, wood, etc., or perhaps a sharpener of knives (honing blades with a whetstone), or else a public official who would measure (or strike off) a standard quantity of corn for sale by using a flat stick called a strike to make the corn level. (ii) occupational name; formally it could alternatively be a derivative of Middle English striken 'to strike or hammer (metal)', and naming a smith, perhaps, or a minter of coins, but **striker* is not a recorded term for either occupation.

Early bearers: Reginald le Strikere, 1297 in King's Bench Pleas (Lincs); Thomas Strikere, 1360 in Feet of Fines (Suffolk); Thomas Striker', 1381 in Poll Tax (Brunton and Ballingdon, Essex); Cecillia Strikere, 1379 in Poll Tax (South Lynn, Norfolk); Willelmus Stryker', 1379 in Poll Tax (Rushford, Norfolk); Johannes Strikere, 1379 in Poll Tax (Woodbastwick, Norfolk); Richard Stryker, 1593 in IGI (Ormskirk, Lancs); Richard Striker, 1658 in IGI (Stepney, Middx).

1 English: occupational name from Middle English **strenger*, **stringer* 'man who worked at a string-hearth or furnace', synonymous with Stringfellow. The name occurs frequently in districts where iron was smelted in medieval times. Thornhill (WR Yorks), for example, where Johannes Strynger, nayler, was taxed in 1379, was a local centre for the making of nails (Redmonds, Surnames and Genealogy, p. 40).

The term was used of someone who made strings for bows in 1420 (OED). Note also Agnes Strengestre, 1379 in Poll Tax (Salisbury, Wilts), and Gilb. le Strengmakere, 1338 in London Pleas.

Variants: Stringfield, Springfield

- Current frequencies: GB 1035, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 780
- Main GB location 1881: Lancs; also Notts

English: occupational name from Middle English string-felagh 'string-fellow, man who works at a string-hearth'. This was the hearth or furnace at which iron was heated for its second working (OED, recorded in Durham, 1409). A 1547 document from south Yorks defines the string-fellow's duties: 'the stringefeloe wages, for layeing the stone and breakeinge and feyng of synders and breakeinge of the blowme and hewing' (quoted in Redmonds, Surnames and Genealogy, p. 41). Thornhill and Ecclesfield (see the 1308 and 1379 examples) were two of several iron-working districts in WR Yorks. See also Stringer.

Further information: There is no evidence to support Reaney's explanation that it was from a nickname for a strong man, from Middle English strang, **streng* 'strong' + felagh 'fellow, man'.

Early bearers: William Strengfellow, 1286 in Assize Rolls (Cheshire); John le Strengfelagh, 1308 in Wakefield Court Rolls (Thornhill, WR Yorks); John Stryngfelowe, 1489 in Calverley Charters (WR Yorks); Laurencius Stryngfelagh, 1379 in Poll Tax (Ecclesfield, WR Yorks); Elizabeth Stringfellowe, 1547 in IGI (Farnworth near Prescot, Lancs); Ralphe Stringfelow, 1573 in IGI (Rothwell, WR Yorks); Thomas Strengthfellowe, 1574 in IGI (Manchester, Lancs); Ralph Strengthfellowe, 1611 in IGI (Rochdale, Lancs); Nichus Stringfellowe, 1613 in IGI (Chesterfield, Derbys); Willus Stringfellow, 1701 in IGI (Sheffield, WR Yorks).

1 English: occupational name from an unrecorded Middle English **stroker*, a derivative of Middle English stroken 'to stroke, rub, make smooth', also 'to sharpen'. The exact sense or senses of the surname cannot be determined without defining contexts, but like the etymologically related Straker or Streaker it may have denoted a waxer or polisher (of leather for example) or a sharpener of knives. The names were evidently interchangeable:

Elizabeth Streaker, 1586, Chareles Stroaker, 1590 in IGI (Wrangle, Lincs); Thomas Stroaker, 1705, Thomas Streaker, 1715 in IGI (Middleham, NR Yorks). It may also have been synonymous with Striker, one of whose other senses may have been 'corn measurer', a market officer who stroked the top of the corn level with a flat stick.

- English: relationship name from the Middle English personal name Stiand, a form of Stigand (Old Scandinavian Stigandr). See also Stigant.

Further information: Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames points out that in WR Yorks Styan may be the same name as that of Clement Styham of Barwick in Elmet (1425), Marjory Styam of York (1425), Robert Styholme of Roundhay (1503), Michael Styam of Leeds (1591), and Matthew Stiam of Shadwell (1610). Redmonds suggests that they are locative names, of which Styan is a variant, but he has not been able to identify a suitable place of origin. Perhaps they are variants of Styan (from the personal name), influenced by false association with place-names and surnames ending in -ham and -holme. However, the lack of medieval examples of the personal name and relationship name in Yorks makes the matter difficult to resolve.

4 Chinese: non-standard romanization of the Chinese surname 束 (Shu in Mandarin pinyin, Chuk in Cantonese romanization), meaning 'bind, restrain' in Chinese: adopted in place of the Chinese surname Shu (疏, also written as 疎 in ancient Chinese) by Shu Guang (疎廣), who migrated from Donghai (located in Shandong province) to Sha Lu Hill (located in Henan province) and simplified his surname Shu (疎) to Shu (束) in order to escape from the wars during the late Xin dynasty (AD 9–23).

5 Chinese: non-standard romanization of the Chinese surnames 徐 and 胥, possibly based on their Hokkien or Taiwanese pronunciation. See Xu (1) and (3).

English: probably a variant of the now extinct name Sudd with post-medieval excrescent -s. Sudd is recorded in Simon Suddle, 1301 in Subsidy Rolls (Fremington, NR Yorks), but its origin is uncertain. It might be a locative name from Middle English sudde ‘mud, bog’ (Old English **sydde*) but the expected form in NE England would be sidde. Alternatively Sudd might be from Middle English shudde, sudde (Old English scyddde) ‘small house, hovel’ or ‘shed’ (for animals), ‘pigsty’ (see Shed), but again the expected form in NE England would be sid(de) or shidde. English: (i) variant of the now rare or extinct Kent name Sudd with post-medieval excrescent -s, unless Sudd is a reduced form of Sudds. Compare Sara Suddle, 1558, Jeremie and John Suddle, 1561 in IGI (Sandwich, Kent). Sudd might be from Middle English sudde ‘mud, bog’ (Old English **sydde*) but the expected dialect form in Kent would be sedde, attested in Joh. atte Sedde, 1356, and Stephen atte Sedde, 1408 in Feet of Fines (Kent). Sudde would, however, belong to W Sussex dialect. (ii) alternatively a variant of the NE England name Suddes, which may have reached Kent through the coastal trade down eastern England.

1 English: (i) nickname from Middle English suġre, suker 'sugar' (Old French sucre, Anglo-Norman French soucre, suġre), for a sweet-natured person, or perhaps for a confectioner or dealer in sugar, in which case Sugar might be a reduced form of **Sugarer*. Some of the following post-medieval bearers may alternatively belong under (2) or (3). (ii) relationship name possibly from the Continental Germanic personal name Sudgar, Suger, although there is no evidence of its use as a given name in medieval Normandy or in Anglo-Norman England.

Sugarman

Some of the following bearers may alternatively bear the same name as that in (2), but its origin is unknown.

Early bearers: Robertus Souger, 1377 in Poll Tax (Colchester, Essex); Editha Sougare, 1381 in Poll Tax (Ampney, Gloucs); Johanne Sugar, 1379 in Poll Tax (Diseworth, Leics); Christine Sugar, 1513 in IGI (Martock, Somerset); William Sugar, 1544 in IGI (Hessett, Suffolk); Alice Sugar, 1556 in IGI (Maiden Newton, Dorset); Wllm. 2 English: Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames draws attention to the surname Sulgar or Sulger in medieval Wakefield, which had developed to Sugar and Suger by the 16th century when a branch of the family had moved to Halifax. A connection of this family with the Sugar family of Broughton (in Craven) is possible but uncertain. The origin of Sulgar or Sulger is unknown. There is no evidence for a Continental Germanic personal name **Sulger*. Early bearers: William Sulger, 1332 in Wakefield Court Rolls (WR Yorks); Robertus Sulgar, 1379 in Poll Tax (Wakefield, WR Yorks); Thomas Sulgar, 1485 in Wakefield Court Rolls (WR Yorks); Thomas Suger, 1522 in Early Tudor Craven (Broughton, WR Yorks); William Sulger or Sugar, 1550–1 in Halifax Wills (Ovenden, WR Yorks); Richard Sugar, 1592 in York Registry Wills (Broughton, WR Yorks); Tristram Sugar, 1646 in IGI (Barnby Dun, WR Yorks); George Suger, 1705 in IGI (Saint Michael le Belfrey, York); Henry Sugar, 1831 in IGI (Bradford, WR Yorks). 3 English: see Shocker. English: locative name from Middle English south 'south' + gate 'street' (Old Scandinavian gata), for someone who lived on a street so named. The modern surname originated in NR Yorks; Redmonds mentions a Southgate in Whitby (NR Yorks) and another near Silpho (NR Yorks). But there were plenty of other streets named 'south gate' in Yorks, some of which gave rise to surnames that appear not to have survived, such as Thomas de Southgate, 1379 in Poll Tax (Walden Stubbs, WR Yorks), and Cecilia Southgate, 1381 in Poll Tax (Anlaby with Wolfeaton, ER Yorks). The modern name generally takes the form Suggitt or Suggett but is sometimes restored to its earlier form Southgate, presumably because Suggitt was felt to be a vulgar pronunciation. Compare Southgate (1).

1 English: (i) relationship name, nickname from a Middle English (Old English) personal name **Sumor*, **Sumer*, originally a nickname from the word for ‘summer’ and perhaps still a nickname (for someone with a warm or sunny disposition) in the period of surname formation. The personal name is not independently recorded but appears in the place-names Somersall (Derbys) and Somersham (Suffolk and Cambs). Compare Winter. William Somer and Adam Wynter both appear in the Subsidy Rolls for Stokenham, Devon in 1332. (ii) occupational name from Middle English **somer*, **somour*, perhaps a reduced form of **sommerer*, **somerour* ‘packhorse man, carrier’, a derivative of Middle English somer (Old French sommier) ‘beast of burden, packhorse’. Compare Anglo-Latin summarius, usually meaning ‘packhorse’ but also ‘packman, groom of packhorse’, which implies that summarius was sometimes a reduced form of **summararius*. For similar simplifications of double r see Pepper and Wafer. (iii) occupational name alternatively, perhaps ‘porter, carrier’. It is possible that **somer* and **somour* are derivatives of Middle English som(m)e, sum(m)e ‘weight’, derived from Old French somme, some ‘weight, burden’. Compare Middle English seme, **some* (Old English sēam, sēom) ‘load, burden, weight’. (iv) occupational name possibly from a Middle English assimilated form of Sumner.

Further information: The surname is widely recorded across medieval England but the absence of any Middle English examples with the definite article and of any relevant contextual evidence makes an occupational sense difficult to confirm. However, Middle English surname Somister, which appears to be occupational (see Sumpster), may imply the existence of a twin form Somer, similar to pairs like Baker and Baxter, Webber and Webster.

1 English: (i) occupational name from Middle English **someseter*, **sumester*, probably a variant of Middle English **somer*, **sumur* 'packhorse man' (see Summer) in which the suffix -ester has been substituted for the -er in somer, as with Baxter for Baker and Webster for Webber. With this sense, and with the common development of an intrusive /p/ between /m/ and /p/, **someseter* will have been synonymous with Sumpter and probably confused with it; see (2). Some of the following post-medieval examples beginning in Som- or Sum- may alternatively belong with (2), while some of those beginning in Sim- and Sem- may belong with Simister (2). (ii) occupational name; alternatively Middle English **someseter*, **sumester* might denote 'load bearer, porter, carrier'; compare Summer. (iii) occupational name; derivation from early Modern English summister 'schoolman, abridger', as suggested in Bardsley, is improbable. However, Bardsley notes several medieval examples (undated) of Sum(m)aster, Summayster, and Somayster, while John Somaister, degher ('dyer'), 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Exeter, Devon) may be compared with John le Mayster, degher, in the same document. Bardsley records Samuel Summaster of Devon, 1607 in Oxford University Register, and a Michael Summaster is recorded in 1623 in IGI (Truro, Cornwall). Perhaps a summayster was a weigh master, a man in charge of weighing wool, etc. at the market. It is unclear whether this name survived beyond the 17th century. Early bearers: Galfridus Somestr', 1377 in Poll Tax (Worcester, Worcs); Jane Somester, 1566, Thomas Sumister, 1688, Thomas Simester, 1708 in IGI (Mottram in Longendale, Cheshire); Jenet Somyster, 1577 in IGI (Royston, WR Yorks); Mary Somester, 1582, George Semister, 1612 in IGI (Manchester, Lancs); Alexr. English: (i) relationship name; from the evidence of the 1381 example below, perhaps from an unrecorded Middle English personal name **Somme* or **Summe*, of uncertain origin, + son. The development of Sunson to forms spelled with -sion, -tion, and -shon is the result of palatalization of /s/, similar to that in Gratton for Grayson and Motion for Mowson. (ii) nickname perhaps from Middle English sumpcion, somsion, a shortened form of assumpcioun 'assumption', denoting the Feast of the Assumption (15 August), for someone born on or around that date. However, no medieval evidence has been found to support this derivation.

Further information: From around 1600, in some northern and south-western dialects, including that of Wilts, /u/ was often unrounded to /i/ before a nasal consonant. Compare northern Simister for Sumpster and Simmerson for Summerson. In Wilts Sums(i)on becomes Simps(i)on and is indistinguishable from Simpson ('son of Sim or Simon'). The variation is explicit in Thomas Sympson or Sumption, 1755, and Anne Sympson or Sumption, 1757 in IGI (Castle Combe, Wilts), and is implied somewhat earlier in sequences like Alice Sumsion, 1600, Thomas Sympson, 1669, Mary Simson, 1661 in IGI (Box, Wilts); John Sumption, 1612, Isaac Sympson, 1679 in IGI (Lacock, Wilts); and Mary Sumson, 1734, Thos Simpson, 1751 in IGI (Wellington, Shrops). It is also possible that Sumsion was confused with Sam(p)s(i)on: compare Rychard Samson, 1567, Richard Sampson, 1727 in IGI (Lacock, Wilts), Richard Sampson, 1761 in IGI (Colerne, Wilts), James Sampson, 1868 in IGI (Arlecdon, Cumb), and William Sampson, 1865 in IGI (Wellington, Shrops). See Sampson, but it is most unlikely that Sumsion would derive from Sam(p)son, since it would involve an otherwise unrecorded sound change.

Early bearers: Willelmus Sommesson', 1381 in Poll Tax (Upton Cressett, Shrops); John Sumption, 1621 in IGI (Barrington, Somerset); Christian Sumpson, 1648 in IGI (Upottery, Devon); Mary Sumption, 1676 in IGI (Devizes, Wilts); Richard Somsion, 1627, Samuell Sumsson, 1668 in IGI (Corsham, Wilts); Josephus Sumsion, 1727 in IGI (Colerne, Wilts); Mary Sumson, 1734 in IGI (Wellington, Shrops); Sarah Sumpson, 1775 in IGI (Arlecdon, Cumb); Francis Sumshon, 1775, Francis Sumsion, 1806 in IGI (Monkton Farleigh, Wilts).

1 Chinese: Mandarin form of the Chinese surname 孫 (Suen in Cantonese romanization), meaning 'grandson' in Chinese: (i) from Hui Sun (惠孫), style name of the son of Wei Wu Gong (c. 853–758 BC). Hui Sun's grandson later inherited 孫, part of the style name of his grandfather, as his surname. (ii) from Sun Shu (孫書), an official in the state of Qi (located mainly in present-day Shandong province). He was given the surname 孫 by Qi Jing Gong (died 490 BC) because of his contributions in the war between the state of Qi and the state of Lü (located in Shandong province). Sun Wu (孫武, also known as Sun Tzu), a prominent militarist during the Warring States period (475–221 BC), famous for his book The Art of War, was a descendant of Sun Shu. (iii) from Sun Shu (孫叔), the style name of Sun Shu Ao (about 630–593 BC), a famous official in the state of Chu during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC). His descendants inherited 孫, part of the style name, as their surname. (iv) for some families, the surname is traced back to Xun (荀). People with the surname 荀 changed it to 孫 during the reign of Liu Xun (劉恂), also known as Han Xuan Di (91–49 BC), because it had the same pronunciation as the given name of the emperor, which was taboo in ancient China. After the death of Han Xuan Di, some people kept the surname 孫, while others changed it back to their original surname 荀.

2 Chinese: non-standard romanization of the Chinese surname 荀 (Xun or Hsun in Mandarin romanization), originally denoting a type of grass in ancient Chinese: (i) it is said that the surname can be traced back to one of the 25 sons of the legendary Huang Di, the 'Yellow Emperor' (traditional dates: 2697–2599 BC), who was given the surname 荀 (Xun) by his father. (ii) from Xun (郇), the name of a state (located in present-day Shanxi province) that was granted to Xun Bo, son of king Zhou Wen Wang (1152–1056 BC), which was annexed by the state of Jin during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC). When the name of the state was adopted as a surname, the written form of the Chinese character was changed from 郇 to 荀, the two characters being pronounced the same. Xun Zi (荀子), a Confucian philosopher during the the Warring States period (475–221 BC), was a descendant of Xun Bo.

3 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surnames 申 (See Shen (1)), 辛 (See Shin (1)), and 山 (See Shan (3)). See also San.

English: (i) nickname perhaps from Middle English soper, sopper, souper, super (Old French soper, souper, Anglo-Norman French super) 'supper, meal (especially one taken in the evening)'. This fits the Middle English surname forms well but the reason for its possible use as a surname is unclear. English: locative name from Middle English sik(e) 'stream, ditch' (Old Scandinavian sik), for someone who lived near a small watercourse, especially one flowing through flat or marshy ground, or near a gully, dip, or hollow. Early and later examples of the surname occur in alternate singular and plural forms: Willelmus de Syke (of Fishlake, 1379), alias William de Sykes of Fisshelake (1396), who may have lived at Sykehouse in that township; Elizabeth Sykes, 1601, Rebecca Syke, 1841 in IGI (Penistone, WR Yorks); Johis. Syke, Edmundi Sykes, 1606 in IGI (Huddersfield, WR Yorks). It is the plural or -s form that has become the general usage as a family name, perhaps re-inforced by the common practice in the post-medieval period of adding an excrescent -s to topographic surnames with an original singular form. By the 16th century the name had spread by migration into the N Midlands. Elsewhere, only Norfolk seems to have produced this name independently, but its survival into the present day is uncertain. Compare Sitoh, which once flourished in the W Midlands, and derives from an equivalent word, Middle English sich, of Old English origin.

Further information: The almost exclusive distribution of the medieval name in WR Yorks is striking, although it is not known how many of these names were dispersed examples of the same family name. For different views on whether the modern surname has a single origin or multiple origins see Brian Sykes and Catherine Irven, 'Surnames and the Y Chromosome', American Journal of Human Genetics, 66 (2000), 1417–19, and Redmonds, King, and Hey, pp. xi, 19, 51, 72, 74, 171–2. The hereditary surname has a long history in townships near the boundary of SE Lancs and WR Yorks, particularly in Rochdale and in Flockton and Slaithwaite, near Huddersfield (see Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames), but also in the SE of the Riding (Fishlake, Pollington, Snaith). These look like two unrelated family names.

Early bearers: Yorks and Lancs: William del Sicks, late 13th cent. in Yorkshire Archaeological Journal 4, p. 162 (Flockton, WR Yorks); John del Siki[?] (probably for del Sikes), 1296, Richard del Sikes of Longfield, in Todmorden, 1309 in Wakefield Court Rolls (Holme, in Almondbury, WR Yorks); Henry del Syke (of Flockton, WR Yorks), 1378 in York Freeman's Register; Johannes del Syke, 1379 in Poll Tax (Baildon, WR Yorks); Johannes del Syke, 1379 in Poll Tax (Bingley, WR Yorks); Robertus del Syke, 1379 in Poll Tax (Bradford, WR Yorks); Henricus del Syke, 1379 in Poll Tax (Emley, WR Yorks); Willelmus de Syke, 1379 in Poll Tax (Fishlake, WR Yorks); Robertus del Syke, 1379 in Poll Tax (Horsforth, WR Yorks); Patricius Syke, 1379 in Poll Tax (Langcliffe, WR Yorks); Robertus atte Syk, 1379 in Poll Tax (Pollington, WR Yorks); Rogerus del Sykes, 1379 in Poll Tax (Quy, WR Yorks); Ricardus de Sykes, 1379 in Poll Tax

1 English: nickname from Middle English tail ‘tail’ (Old English taegl ‘tail’). The reference may be to horsehair: compare Old Scandinavian tagl ‘horse’s tail’, and note Peter Taylmonger, 1332 in Fransson (Norfolk), apparently ‘seller of (horses’) tails’. A lewd connotation is also possible, as the word was jocularly applied to human genitalia, both male and female. Some of the early bearers may belong with (2).

- Norman, English: relationship name, probably from an Anglo-Norman French given name Tachel, Takel, in origin a Continental Germanic name Dacil(us), **Tacil(us)*. This was a pet form of names in Dag-, Tag- such as Dagobert, 1086 in Domesday Book (Gloucs). The double diminutive form Dachelin is recorded in Domesday Book (Dorset) and as the surname of Alicia Dacolyn, 1346 in Feudal Aids (Beds). The spelling -ch- represents the sound /k/. The earliest known bearer of Tachel or Takel as a surname is a Lincs knight with the forename Samson, a particular favourite among Bretons, many of whom were given estates in Lincs after the Conquest. This tells against Reaney’s suggestion that the source of the name is an unrecorded Old English given name **Tacela*, though it remains a theoretical possibility.
- Early bearers: Geoffrey Takel, 1179 in Pipe Rolls; Samson Tachel, 1166 in Red Book of the Exchequer (Lincs), 1212 in Book of Fees (Yawthorpe, Lincs); Samson Takel, about 1170–86 in Mowbray Charters; Sansone Takel de Brunhom, late 12th cent. in Danelaw Documents (Burnham in Haxey, Lincs); Thomas Takel, 1245 in Feet of Fines (Lincs); Johannem filium Takel’ de Kotingham, 1218–19 in Assize Rolls (Cottingham, ER Yorks); John Takel of Cottingham, 1276 in Inquisitiones post Mortem (ER Yorks); John Tachel of Kyngesbury Episcopi, 1374 in Patent Rolls (Kingsbury Episcopi, Somerset); Johannes Takul, 1377 in Poll Tax (Shepton Mallet, Somerset); Johanne Tachell, 1379 in Poll Tax (Seavington Saint Mary, Somerset); Thoma Tathel’ (for Tachel’), 1379 in Poll Tax (Over Stratton, Somerset); Johannes Takell, 1381 in Poll Tax (Cottingham, ER Yorks); Thomam Tackele, 1406 in Oseney Cartulary (Oxon); Elizabetha Tackle, 1573 in IGI (Melksham, Wilts); Elnor Tackell, 1581 in IGI (Chippingham, Wilts); Dorithie Tackhill, 1572 in IGI

1 Norman, English: relationship name from the Anglo-Norman French personal name Talebot, a pet form of Old French Talebert (Continental Germanic Talaberht). Compare Talbert.

Further information: William Taillebot, 1202 in Assize Rolls (Lincs), seems to suggest an alternative derivation from Old French taille ‘cut’ + botte ‘faggot’, but this is unlikely given the high social status of the bearer. It may be an error for Talebot or Talboys.

Early bearers: given names: Talebotus prior, 1121–38 in Bury Saint Edmunds Documents (Suffolk); Talebod de Neweham, 1146–8 in Hatton’s Book of Seals (Essex); Talebot, 1185 in Templars Records (Kent); Talebot, 1283 in Feet of Fines (Suffolk).

2 Irish: as well as being a well-established Norman English name, this is also a Norman Irish name of great historical importance, gaelicized as Talbóid. Further information: Talbot is the name of an ancient Irish family of Norman origin, which has held the earldoms of Shrewsbury and Waterford since the 15th century. They were granted the baronial estate of Malahide, near Dublin, by Henry II (1154–89), an estate which they held for over 850 years. They trace their descent from Richard de Talbott, mentioned in Domesday Book. His son, Hugh de Talbot or Talebot’h, became governor of Plessis Castle, Normandy, in 1118.

Early bearers: William Talebot, 1210 in CDI §401 (Nassam, Kildare); Reginald Talbot, 1224 in CDI §1168 (Dalkey, Dublin); Robert Talebot, 1226 in CDI §1342 (Finegal); Robert Talbot, 1560 in Fiants Elizabeth §260 (Belgard); Reginald Talbott, 1564 in Fiants Elizabeth §646; Richard Talbot, chief justice, 1574 in Fiants Elizabeth §2444; William Talbot, knight, 1577 in Fiants Elizabeth §3182 (Mullaghid); Gilbert Talbot, 1584 in Fiants Elizabeth §4462 (Belgard).

Yue Zhu and Yue Long are said to have adopted Dou (竇) (meaning 'hole') as a surname because their pregnant grandmother had escaped from a rebellion through a hole in the wall before giving birth to their father, Shao Kang, who later recaptured the throne. (ii) traced back to the Dou (竇) family from the Di ethnic group and He Dou Ling family from the Xianbei ethnic group in ancient China.

1 English: (i) nickname, variant of Toplin (1), with unrounding of /o/ to /a/. The 1653 example Taplaine fits well with this derivation but also with that in (2). (ii) relationship name, possibly from a pet form of an unrecorded Middle English personal name **Tapp* (see Tapp) with the Old French double diminutive suffix -elin. No evidence has been found for this name in the medieval records, but compare Toplin (2).

Early bearers: Elyn Taplyn, 1546 in IGI (Rye, Sussex); John Taplyn, 1563 in IGI (Hemington, Somerset); Edw. Taplyn, 1564 in IGI (Maulden, Beds); Anes Taplynge, 1569 in IGI (Ticehurst, Sussex); Johis. 2 English: nickname, perhaps from a metathesized form of Middle English Tolpayn, becoming Talpayn in the 1431 example by unrounding of the first vowel, and then **Taplain*, Taplin. The 1379 Warwicks bearer is a meleward ('mill keeper') so it may be a nickname from Middle English tollen 'to exact a charge on (something)' + Middle English (Old French) pain 'bread', though the tolls that the miller exacted were on the flour he ground not the bread that was made from it. Alternatively, if -payne is a spelling of Middle English (Old French) peine 'tax', it may be an occupational nickname for a tax collector.

Further information: The derivation in Hjertstedt, p. 193, 'cut bread' (employing Old French tailler 'to cut'), is phonetically unlikely.

Early bearers: Robert Tolpain, 1327, Robert Tolpayn, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Kineton, Warwicks); Johannes Tolpayn, meleward, 1379 in Poll Tax (Kineton, Warwicks); Willelmus Tolpayn, 1379 in Poll Tax (Williamscot, Oxon); Thomas Talpayn, 1431 in Feet of Fines (Fenny Compton, Warwicks); John Taplin, 1653 in IGI (Alcester, Warwicks).

The unrounding of the vowel is characteristic of Devon dialect. The development of -sham to -son can be seen in Buckland Monachorum, where the surname proliferated in the 16th and 17th centuries. A branch of the family appears to have moved to the London area in the 18th century.

Further information: Derivation from the unrecorded early Middle English personal names **Tapp* or **Topp* (see Tapp) + -son is unlikely in Devon, where Middle English patronymics in -son are very rare (see Surnames of Devon, pp. 179–80).

English: locative name from Tarbock (Lancs). In the medieval records, the place is mostly called Torbok, and occasionally Torbrok and Tarbok, while the derived surname also appears as Starbok (see Starbuck).

Further information: Torbok or Tarbok was evidently an obscure place-name even in medieval times, and some alterations in the pronunciation of the surname may be the result of folk etymologies. Henry de Torbok, bailiff between the Ribble and the Mersey (1232–56), is also called Henry de Thornebrooke, (Lancs Place-Names, p. 263). Ekwall infers that Torbok was an altered form of Thornebrooke, but the reverse change is equally possible. Starbok and Storbok may be variant pronunciations of Tarbok and Torbok, or may reflect earlier (but unrecorded) forms of the place-name, from which the initial S- was dropped.

1 Norman, English, Irish: relationship name from the Old French personal name Thierry, Tierrri, Terrri (Continental Germanic Theudoric, latinized as Theod(e)ricus). Many of the early Middle English bearers of the name were Flemish or German merchants, frequently described as Teutonicus, Alemannus, or Flandrensis. English, Welsh: relationship name from the New Testament personal name Thomas. Its popularity as a given name among the Normans and then the English reflected the cults of Saint Thomas, Christ's disciple, and of Saint Thomas Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury, martyred in 1170. By the end of the 13th century it had become one of the most frequently used personal names in all classes of society, and it gave rise to many different surnames. The basic surname form Thomas or Tomas is widespread in England but occurs most frequently in the southern counties, from Kent across to Cornwall, and in the counties bordering Wales. In Wales itself Thomas (often an anglicization of Welsh Tomos) became exceptionally popular as a personal name and surname in the post-medieval period, although the surname was not generally hereditary until well into the 19th century. It was especially common in south Wales, notably Carmarthens, and is one of the top-ranking Welsh surnames, far outnumbering its equivalent in England. Middle English pet forms of the personal name also survive as surnames. See Tam, Tamplin, Tamsett, Tom, Tomkin, Tomlin, Tomsett, and compare Toms, Thompson, Tomkinson, Tomlinson, and McComb.

- GB frequency 1881: 78

- Main Irish location 1847–64: Dublin

1 English: (i) nickname from Middle English thonder, thunder ‘thunder’ (Old English þunor), perhaps used for someone with a thunderous voice. The surname is synonymous with Toner. Compare William Tonitruus, 1160 in Pipe Rolls (Norfolk/Suffolk), where the name has been translated into Medieval Latin tonitruus ‘thunder’. (ii) occupational name from Middle English tunder (Old French tondour) ‘shearman; one who shears the nap of woollen cloth’. It is difficult to distinguish early forms of this name from those belonging to (i), though the definite article in some of the Norfolk and Sussex examples points to the occupational term rather than the nickname in (i). The forms with Th- would therefore reflect a conventional Anglo-Norman French spelling for /t/. McKinley argues, for example, that William le Tundur, who lived in Chichester in the late 13th century, was probably the same man as William le Thundre, who held land in Steyning and Bramber (Sussex) at the same time. However, the Sussex occupational surname seems to have survived as Thunder, in a pronunciation with initial /θ/, perhaps through false association with the word thunder.

Early bearers: Andrew Thunre, Tundur, 1221 in Curia Regis Rolls (Hants); Hugh le Tondor, 1261 in Patent Rolls (Norfolk); John le Tundur, 1289 in Norwich Deeds (Norfolk); Roger Thunder, 1298 in Patent Rolls (Norfolk); Nicholas and William le Thunder, 1296 in Subsidy Rolls (Chinting and Sutton, Sussex); Willelmus Thunder, 1379 in Poll Tax (Redenhall, Norfolk); Thomas Thunder, 1473 in PROB 11 (Winchelsea, Sussex); Johane Thunder, 1567 in IGI (Eastbourne, Sussex); Thomas Thunder, 1568 in IGI (Bearstead, Kent); Symon Thunder, 1569 in IGI (Norwich, Norfolk).

• Main Irish location 1847–64: Mayo; also Sligo

1 Irish: relationship name from a pet form of the personal name Thomas. This was the name of a family of Norman Welsh origin, which formed an Irish sept in the barony of Tirawley, Mayo. The name is recorded as Tomilin in 1641 and was gaelicized as Mac Toimilin. It is probably the source of the name in late 19th-century N England.

Early bearers: Ireland: Cahir McTomylin and Tomelyn oge McTomelyn, 1603 in Fiants Elizabeth §6761; James Timblin, 1796 in Flaxgrowers Ireland (Doonfeeny, Mayo).

England: Mary Timlin, 1840 in IGI (Liverpool, Lancs); Michael Timlin, 1859 in IGI (Barnard Castle, Durham); Edwardus Timlin, 1864 in IGI (Newcastle upon Tyne, Northumb).

Scotland: Mary Timlin, 1855 in IGI (Glasgow, Lanarks); Mary Timlin, 1865 in IGI (Carrington, Midlothian).

2 English: (i) relationship name, perhaps from an unrecorded Middle English personal name **Timmelin*, a pet form of Timme (see Timm) + the Middle English, Old French double diminutive suffix -elin. Its survival as a modern surname is uncertain but compare Tinlin and Tinkling. (ii) an altered form of Tomlin. Compare Eliz Tomlin, 1723, John Timlin, 1725 in IGI (Osbourby, Lincs).

Early bearers: Denyse Timlin, 1546 in IGI (Evercreech, Somerset).

3 English: locative name, perhaps sometimes a late variant of Timberland, from the place of that name in Lincs. Compare Bridget Timberland, 1570 in IGI (Heydour, Lincs) and Robert Timberland, 1609 in IGI (Quarrington, Lincs).

Timm

- Current frequencies: GB 264, Ireland 1
- GB frequency 1881: 167
- Main GB location 1881: WR Yorks and Lincs

English: relationship name, from a Middle English personal name **Timme*, which also gave rise to Timson. It may be a survival of an unrecorded Old English **Tima*, indirectly attested by what looks like an Old English pet form **Timoc* in the surnames of Alexander Timmok, 1381 in Poll Tax (Holbeach, Lincs) and Thomas Timmock, 1381 in Poll Tax (Whaplode, Lincs), and by another apparently Old English pet form **Timing* in the surnames of Richard Tymyng, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Sussex), and Richard Tymmyng, 1477 in Inquisitiones post Mortem (Notts). A pet form, Middle English Timcok, is evidenced in Hugo Timecok, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Pavenham, Beds) and Johannes Tymecok, 1377 in Poll Tax (Weedon Bec, Northants). Historically, the surname Timm was interchangeable with Timms and Timmin.

Further information: Anthony Tyme alias Tymothie, 1619 in PROB 11 (Maidstone, Kent) is apparently evidence that by the 17th century Tim was perceived as a pet form of Timothy, but as this Biblical personal name is not recorded as a given name in England until after the Reformation it is unlikely to be a source of Middle English Timm(e) and Timson. The suggestion in Reaney and Wilson that Timme could be the (Continental) Germanic name Thiemmo is also doubtful, for it was extremely rare on the Continent and there is no evidence of its use among the Normans either there or in England.

Early bearers: William filius Tymme, 1285 in Assize Rolls (Cheshire); Alicia Timme, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls

(Worcs); Margareta Tym, 1544 in IGI (Badsey, Worcs); John Tym, 1565 in IGI (Mottram in Longdendale, Cheshire); Wm Tyme, 1593 in IGI (Gunby by Spilsby, Lincs); Mattheus Tymme, 1623, Willm. Timms, 1681, Mathew Timm, 1765 in IGI (Sheffield, WR Yorks); Elizabeth Timme, 1635, Margareta Timmes, 1639, Robert Times, 1690, James Timm, 1746 in IGI (Fiskerton, Lincs).

Timmerman

German: occupational name from Low German Timmer 'timber' + Low German Mann 'man', for a carpenter or dealer in timber. Compare Zimmermann.

Further information: The equivalent native name, from Middle English timberman 'dealer in timber, carpenter', as in Margeria Tymberman, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Suffolk), has died out.

Early bearers: Ludwig Timmermann, born in Germany, in Census 1881 (Cliffe at Hoo, Kent); John Timmerman, born in Germany, in Census 1881 (Clerkenwell, Middx); Frederich G. Timmerman, born in Switzerland, in Census 1881 (Coventry, Warwicks).

Timmin

Variants: Timmins

- GB frequency 1881: 11
- Main GB location 1881: London; Worcs; Lancs

1 English: relationship name 'Tim's (relative/servant)', from Middle English Timmen, a W Midlands genitival form of the Middle English personal name Timme, see Timm. It was interchangeable with Middle English Timmes, where the genitival ending is the more usual -es (see Timms). The name is more commonly found as Timmins, and the rare modern instances without -s may be reduced forms of Timmins rather than survivals of the original Middle English form without -s.

Further information: For the occurrence of genitival -en in Warwicks and Worcs relationship names see Reaney, Origin, p. 96, and Hjertstedt, pp. 226–9. There is no evidence to support Wilson's explanation in Reaney and Wilson that Timmins, Timmings, and Timmon(s) are diminutive forms of either Continental Germanic Thiemmo or Old English **Tima*.

Early bearers: Ric. Tymme, 1327, identical with Ric. Tymmen, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Wellesbourne Mountford, Warwicks); Hannah Maria Timmen, 1780 in IGI (Dudley, Worcs).

Tolkien

- Current frequencies: GB 48, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 25
- Main GB location 1881: London

English: nickname from an anglicization of the German surname Tollkühn, from a non-standard form of German tollkühn ‘foolhardy’. J. R. R. Tolkien wrote the following in a letter to the Houghton Mifflin Co.: ‘My name is Tolkien (not -kein). It is a German name (from Saxony), an anglicization of Tollkühn, i.e. tollkühn. But, except as a guide to spelling, this fact is as fallacious as all facts in the raw. For I am neither “foolhardy” nor German, whatever some remote ancestors may have been. They migrated to England more than 200 years ago, and became quickly intensely English (not British), though remaining musical – a talent that unfortunately did not descend to me.’ Others, such as Mechow (1994), have suggested the name is derived from the village of Tolkynen, near Rastenburg in East Prussia (now in north-eastern Poland), although the fully German (non-policized) name of this place is Tolksdorf and it is far from Saxony, where Tolkien places the geographical origin of his name.

Further information: The writer and philologist J. R. R. Tolkien was born in Bloemfontein, South Africa, in 1892. His parents had moved there from England for his father’s career, though J. R. R. Tolkien lived in England from the age of 3, remaining in the country after a family visit there with his mother and brother, during which time his father died in Bloemfontein. Early bearers: Maria Tolkien, 1783 in IGI (Saint Martin in the Fields, Middx); Martha Tolkien, 1788 in IGI (Covent Garden, Middx); Charlotte Tolkien, 1797 in IGI (Saint Mary le Bow, London); Thomas Tolkien, in Census 1841 (Worcs); John Benjamin Tolkien, 1856 in IGI (Birmingham, Warwicks).

Tongs

Some of these places appear to be named from Middle English tong(e) 'tongue' (Old English tunge), and the surname may occasionally be topographic, for someone who lived on a tongue-like projection of land; others are ultimately from Old English t(w)ang(e) 'tongs, fork (of a river)'.

Early bearers: [ . . . ] de Tanga, 1160–1 in Pipe Rolls (Kent); Richard de Tanga, de Tong, about 1200–10 in Calverley Charters (Yorks); Elias de Tong, 13th cent. in Whalley Abbey Coucher Book (Lancs); William in la Tunge, 1248 in Feet of Fines (Sussex); [ . . . ] de Taunge, 1249 in Feet of Fines (Kent); Johannes de Tong, 1377 in Poll Tax (Eccleshill, WR Yorks); Johanne de Thonge, 1379 in Poll Tax (Diseworth, Leics); Willelmus de Tonge, 1379 in Poll Tax (Middleton, WR Yorks); Henrico de Tong, 1379 in Poll Tax (Walton le Dale, Lancs); Johannes de Thong', 1379 in Poll Tax (Eccleshill, WR Yorks); Ricardus de Tongh, 1381 in Poll Tax (Middleton, Lancs); Richard de Tonge, 1400 in Feet of Fines (Kent); John atte Tonge, 1450 in Patent Rolls (Kent); James a Tonge, 1545 in Archaeologia Cantiana (Kent); Willms Tonge, 1543 in IGI (Saint Bees, Cumb); Ales Tonge, 1564 in IGI (Eccles, Lancs).

1 English: (i) nickname from Middle English Toppam, of uncertain meaning. The second element is perhaps Middle English pan(ne) 'crown of the head', while Top- could be derived from several different words. If from Middle English toppen 'to shave (the head)', then Toppan might have been a name for a barber who provided tonsures for the clergy. Alternatively Top- might represent Middle English tup, top(pe) 'ram, male sheep', hence 'ram-head', or Middle English top(pe), Anglo-Norman French tupe 'hair on the head, tuft of hair, forelock', denoting someone with a distinctive head of hair. Compare Willelmus Toppeheved, 1238 in Close Rolls of Henry III, and William Tupeheved, 1246 in Assize Rolls (Lancs), 1299 in Inquisitiones post Mortem. See also Topping, Tuppen, and Topper. (ii) alternatively, some examples of the post-medieval name may be variants of Topping.

Toppin

- GB frequency 1881: 170
- Main GB location 1881: Lancs; Middx; Cambs and Hunts

English: (i) occupational name, nickname from an -er derivative of Middle English toppen, topen, meaning either 'to take the top off (something), to shave' or 'to put the top on something'. Topper could, for example, denote a barber, a sheep shearer, or a roofer, but there is no contextual evidence at present to settle the matter. Compare Topp. (ii) locative name, perhaps for someone who lived at the top of a hill (Middle English toppe + -er), a type of name common in Sussex and the adjacent counties, but McKinley notes that no examples of the equivalent atte Toppe have been found there. Further information: There is no reason to suppose, as Reaney does, that a topper was 'probably the one who put the 'toppe' [the tuft of wool] on the distaff'. As McKinley points out, this was unlikely to give rise to a distinct occupation and in any case spinning was a female occupation, whereas all early examples of the surname belong to men.

1 Norman, Scottish: (i) relationship name from the Anglo-Norman and Middle English personal name T(h)urbert, T(h)orbert, a hybrid of Old Scandinavian Þorr 'Thor', the name of the god of thunder, + Continental Germanic -bert 'bright, famous'. The name was probably formed on the Continent and is identical with Turbert found in the Normandy place-name Thouberville (see Turberville); hence the Norman initial T and the frequent loss of the second r.
