It may denote a toll paid for the right to cross a boundary or bridge, the surname perhaps being for someone who paid or collected such tolls. Alternatively, it may mean 'crosswise, sideways' or 'dispute, disagreement'. The Old French word also had the sense 'crossing, passage' (compare Matravers) and it is more than likely that the surname is Norman in origin, for someone who lived at a crossing place (of a body of water?) or at a place so named. The presence of the preposition 'de' (and perhaps also 'le') in early forms of the surname appears to indicate a locative explanation, but the French preposition and definite article were sometimes added gratuitously to Norman surnames as a sign of their high social status. Early bearers: Midlands, E Anglia, and Channel Islands: Robert Trauers, Traues, trauese 1154–89 in Danelaw Documents (Lincs); Pagan Travers, Radulf Travers, 1166 in Red Book of the Exchequer (Worcs); Walter Travers, 1172 in Gilbertine Charters (Lincs); John le Travers, 1285 in Patent Rolls (London); John de Travers, Travers, 1331 in Patent Rolls (Channel Islands); Johannes Travers, 1379 in Poll Tax (Aldwincle, Northants); Thomas Travers, 1379 in Poll Tax (Birdingbury, Warwicks); William Travas alias Travers of Cokefeld, 1405 in Patent Rolls (Cockfield, Suffolk); William Travis, 1507 in PROB 11 (Aldborough, Norfolk); John Travise or Travyse, 1521 in PROB 11 (Aldborough, Norfolk); Ales Traves, 1555 in PROB 11 (Warwick, Warwicks); John Travis, 1566 in IGI (Leverton, Lincs); Marten Travers, 1588 in IGI (Powerstock with West Milton, Dorset); Lucy Trevis, 1670, Elizabeth Treavis, 1673 in IGI (Blockley, Worcs); Marie Trevers, 1708, John Trevis, 1734 in IGI (Bradford Peverell, Dorset). 3 Norman, English: (i) locative name, perhaps from Treix (Haute-Marne), or from one of several places named Trie in Oise (Normandy), but the absence of a preposition in any of the early surname forms makes this an uncertain origin. Further information: It is not certain that this surname has survived as a hereditary surname, though Trease does appear in 19th-century Leics: George Trease, 1874 in IGI (Coalville, Leics). It is likely in any case that the name was confused early on with Trees (1).

Compare John Tregascor, about 1535 in Cornwall Military Survey (Saint Clement). The place-name has irregularly lost final -r, and post-medieval excrescent -s has been added to the derived surname. - Welsh: relationship name from the personal name Tudur, a derivative of British Celtic **Toutorix*, literally ‘people’ + ‘king’. It has sometimes been taken as a Welsh equivalent of Latin Theodorus, from Greek Theodōros ‘gift of God’ (see Theodore), for which the usual Welsh form is Tewdwr.

Further information: The Tudor royal family, English sovereigns from the accession of Henry VII in 1485 to the death of Elizabeth I in 1603, was of Welsh origin, being descended from Owain ap Maredudd ap Tudur, who held lands at Penmynydd in Anglesey. The name was regularly pronounced /tidər/ ‘Tidder’, an anglicized version of the Welsh pronunciation, in the early Tudor period, as some of the evidence presented shows. A 1484 proclamation of Richard III refers to the rebels’ captain, ‘oon Henry Tidder, son of Edmand Tidder, son of Owen Tidder’, i.e. the future Henry VII. The most frequent modern pronunciation is a spelling-pronunciation, but the original survives in the variants.

Compare Alice Fouerpenys, 1285 in Pinchbeck Register (Suffolk) ‘four pence’; John Fivepeni, 1279 in Hundred Rolls (Oxon) ‘five pence’; Jacobus Twelpans, 1379 in Poll Tax (Newhaven with Piddinghoe, Sussex) ‘twelve pence’.

Tupper

• Current frequencies: GB 654, Ireland 2
• GB frequency 1881: 535
• Main GB location 1881: Sussex, Surrey, and Kent
1 English: (i) occupational name, variant of Topper, whose etymological base (Old English topp) may have been reinforced by Old French top, tupe, toup ‘top’, also ‘tuft of hair, topknot, forelock’. McKinley (Surnames of Sussex, pp. 273–4) observes that le Topere and le Tuper both occur in 1321 in Preston (Sussex). (ii) occupational name, possibly a derivative of Middle English tup(pe) ‘ram’, though it is unclear what the sense might be. Reaney suggests that a tupper might have denoted a workman who used a battering ram to beat down earth, but this is little more than conjecture.

Early bearers: Robert Tupper, 1314 in Wakefield Court Rolls (WR Yorks); Edith Tupper, 1560 in IGI (Petworth, Sussex); Robert Tupper, 1631 in PROB 11 (Chichester, Sussex); Elizabeth Tuper, 1663 in IGI (Petworth, Sussex).

2 English: occupational name; the modern surname could theoretically derive from a late form of tup-herd ‘shepherd’ (based on Middle English tup(pe) ‘ram’), as in the case of Robert Tophird, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Yorks); Willelmus Tuphird, 1379 in Poll Tax (Beamsley, WR Yorks). However, there is no evidence for this in the counties where the modern surname is mostly found.

1 English, Scottish: nickname, occupational name for one who herds bulls, from Middle English turnebole, a compound of Middle English t(o)urnen 'turn, direct, steer' + bul(l)e 'bull'. Norman, English: relationship name from the Old French and Middle English personal name Turpin. See also Turpie. In France the personal name and its derived surname are specific to Picardy and Normandy. This led Reaney to argue persuasively that its source is a native Norman name (from Old Scandinavian Þorfinnr) rather than Old French Turpin (Latin Turpinus), to which French scholars assign the Picard and Norman name. Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames notes that early charters in the family papers of the Ingilbys of Ripley (WR Yorks) record Thomas son of Torphin (1170) becoming Thomas Turpin (1200), after which the name Turpin was hereditary: Henry Turpyn (1302, Ripley), William Turpyn (1414, Killinghall, WR Yorks). The same change can be inferred from Thorfyn (a landholder), 1297 in Subsidy Rolls (Austwick, WR Yorks), and Willelmus Turpyn, 1379 in Poll Tax (Austwick, WR Yorks). Þorfinnr was also independently current in England before and after the Conquest and is probably the source of Turvin. Further information: Latin Turpinus is a diminutive of Turpius, based on Latin turpis 'ugly, base'. This was one of the self-abasing names adopted as a mark of humility by the early Christians. French scholars attribute its later revival in Normandy to the fame of Turpin, the 8th-century archbishop of Rheims, who appears in the Charlemagne legend.

The English form is a translation of Gaelic tuairisc 'tidings', a word that is unrelated to the Gaelic name. Ó hUarghuis has also been mistranslated as Waters and Caldwell, being wrongly taken as Ó Fuaruisce 'son of cold water'.

Udy

- Variants: Eddy, Edy
- Current frequencies: GB 195, Ireland 0
  - GB frequency 1881: 182
  - Main GB location 1881: Cornwall

Cornish: relationship name from the Middle English given name Ude, Udy (becoming Cornish Edy), latinized as Udo and Odo. It may represent Old French Eude (Continental Germanic Eudo), whose usual Latin form is Eudo: compare Eudo le Pedit (le Petit), 1289 in Feet of Fines (Predannack, Cornwall). This agrees with later evidence that the original pronunciation of the initial vowel of Udy was /y:/ (as in French tu). The Devon spellings Ew- and You- reflect the development of Middle English /y:/ to Modern English /ju:/, and the given name variation between Udy and Edy in the 1503–5 example reflects the unrounding of /y:/ to /i:/ (spelled -e(e)-) in 16th-century Cornish. See Eddy, Edyvean. Uda (1332) is a dialect spelling of Ude. The final -y is perhaps a local pronunciation of final -e, though it might alternatively represent the hypocoristic suffix -y. Compare the Cornwall name Oatey, which is probably a different name, though its medieval forms are not necessarily distinguishable from those of Udy.

Further information: O. J. Padel (in a personal communication) observes that Odo occurs as a given name more than 20 times in the Cornwall Subsidy Roll of 1327, especially in the western, Cornish-speaking half, where Eudo le Petit's family held lands. However, it was also (and more usually) the regular Latin form of Old French Ode (Continental Germanic Odo, Udo), which in Cornwall gave rise to Oates and Oatey. For the substitution of Odo for Eudo, see Forssner, p. 84. It is difficult to know which name Odo represents, or to what extent Udy and Ode/Ote/Oty may have been regarded as interchangeable names, even though of different origins.

Early bearers: given names: Udy Tomyov, 1481 in Cornish Deeds; Udy Ferres, about 1486 in Narration of Evidence (Cornwall); Udy alias Edy Gove, 1503–5 in Cornish

Personal Accounts, identical with Odo Angoff, 1504 in Arundell Leases (Cornwall); Udy Gogh, deceased, 1515 in Cornish Bond and Udo Gogh, 1518 in Cornish Receipt; Udy Robert, about 1535 in Cornwall Timmers Muster Roll (Roche, Cornwall); Udy Phelippe, Udy Petroke, 1543 in Subsidy Rolls (Cornwall); Udy Jagowe, 1569 in Muster Rolls (Roche, Cornwall). surnames, Cornwall: Matthew Uda, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Probus); Odo Ude de Lostwithiel, 1389 in Dynham Account Book; John Udy, Edward Udy, 1434 in Cornish Manorial Accounts; William Ude, 1443 in Lanhadron Court Roll (Saint Ewe); John Udy, 1522 in Cornwall Military Survey (Roche); Joan Udie, 1551, John Eudye, 1713 in IGI (Saint Columb); Elizabeth Udie, 1639, Jenifer Udy, 1795 in IGI (Luxulyan). surnames, Devon: Benedict Ude, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Highweek); William Uda, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Newton Ferrers); William Oda, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Plympton); John Udy, rector of Ideford (Devon), 1441–63 in Narration of Evidence; Joan Ewdie, 1600, Eleanor Youdie, 1630, Pertesy Euddye, 1649, William Eudy, 1719 in IGI (Plymouth).

- GB frequency 1881: 47
- Main GB location 1881: WR Yorks

English, Norman: (i) locative name from Ulley, near Sheffield (WR Yorks). The derived surname sometimes developed a prosthetic H-. In the 18th and 19th centuries, dialect pronunciation of final -ey produced the written forms Hulla(h) and Huller. (ii) locative name; in NR Yorks and northern WR Yorks (Burnsall and Bilton Ainsty are now in NR Yorks) it could alternatively derive from Ully-Saint-Georges in Normandy (Oise). The 1304 bearer, in particular, might have Norman ancestry.

Further information: There is no evidence to support Reaney's suggestion that the surname derives from the rare female personal name Uliā, which is attested only as the name of the wife of Gilbert de Turribus, 1202 in Feet of Fines (Startforth, NR Yorks).

Variants: Umpelby, Humpleby

- Current frequencies: GB 448, Ireland o
- GB frequency 1881: 559
- Main GB location 1881: WR Yorks; also NR Yorks

English: locative name, perhaps a variant of Uppleby with an intrusive /m/. Compare Campleman for Cappleman. Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames plausibly suggests that Uppleby is a variant pronunciation of Middle English up in by ‘up in the village’ (i.e. at the top end), a name which is recorded in Haisthorpe (ER Yorks) in 1297. The development to Uppiby and Uppilby can be seen in villages not far away, in Seamer, Old Malton, New Malton, and Buckton. Redmonds notes that one part of Easingwold (NR Yorks) is still known as Uppleby. From ER Yorks the name migrated to N Lincs, on the Humber, where there was still one family with the name in the 1881 Census, and apparently to WR Yorks, where the presumed variant Umpleby is the only recorded form.

Further information: Reaney derives Umpleby from Anlaby (ER Yorks), citing William de Anlauby, 1289 in Patent Rolls, but this is linguistically most unlikely. The 11th-century spelling Umlouebi for Anlaby in Domesday Book is a scribal error for Anlouebi.

Early bearers: Uppleby: Robert and Hugh Uppinby, 1297 in Subsidy Rolls (Haisthorpe, ER Yorks); Richard and Wymarck Uppiby, 1301 in Subsidy Rolls (Seamer, NR Yorks); Richard Uppilby, 1301 in Subsidy Rolls (Old Malton, NR Yorks); Robert Uppilbe, 1483 in York Registry Wills (Buckton, ER Yorks); Christopher Upplebie, 1541 in York Registry Wills (Rudston, ER Yorks); Henry Uppleby, 1567 in IGI (Barton upon Humber, Lincs); Margaret Upplebie, 1577, George Charles Uppleby, 1865 in IGI (Barrow on Humber, Lincs); John Upleby, 1597 in York Registry Wills (New Malton, NR Yorks); Rob. The reference may apply to some place of theirs in England.' The unidentified place of residence could equally well be in France or Wales.

Further information: Wilson associates the surname with 'Hounstead Bury in Sanderstead (Surrey), from the family of Ovenstede 1332, later Oownstead' but gives no sources for the place or the family name. The names Hounstead and Oownstead are alternative pronunciations of Unstead, while Ovenstede (1332) is probably an error for Ounstede as an early reduction of Tounstede. This family, though originating in Shalford, presumably acquired a bury or manor in Sanderstead.

The place-name may derive from Middle English up 'upper' + croft 'croft, enclosure, small field'. ### Upex

- Current frequencies: GB 197, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 93
- Main GB location 1881: Northants; Hunts

English: unexplained. Formally it appears to be derived from Up Exe ('settlement higher up the River Exe') in Rewe (Devon), but there are no early surname forms to bear this out and it would also require migration of the surname from Devon to Northants. Alternatively it might be a variant of the lost surname Upwick with post-medieval excrescent -s. There is an Upwick ('the upper dairy farm') in Albury (Herts), from which Robert and Alice de Upwik, 1307 in Subsidy Rolls (Albury, Herts), and Guy de Upwyk', 1344 in Feet of Fines (Albury, Herts), were named.

Uren

Variants: Uran, Urin

- Current frequencies: GB 1055, Ireland 3
- GB frequency 1881: 1132
- Main GB location 1881: Cornwall

Breton, Norman: relationship name from the Breton personal name Ur(i)en (Old Breton Urbien, Urien). As used by Normans (such as the family of de Saint Pierre, see Simper) it may have given rise to a hereditary surname in the Midlands, but it is uncertain that this has survived into the present day. It is sometimes unclear whether the name as used in Wales is the Breton-Norman name (as in the de Saint Pierre family who also held lands in Wales), or a parallel survival of a Welsh name of the same origin. In Cornwall the surname cannot represent a native patronymic, as Cornish personal names were no longer current in the period of surname formation, so it must be the Breton surname Urien, brought to Cornwall in the 16th century, as clearly indicated by the given names recorded 1524–45 and the surnames recorded in 1543 and 1545.

Further information: The explanation of the Breton surname Urien given in Morlet, Dictionnaire (a locative surname arising from a misdivision and reduction of Saint-Thurien, a place-name in Eure) is unnecessary.

Welsh: nickname from Welsh fychan, the lenited form of bychan 'small, little'. The lenited form of adjectives is the most frequent one in surnames, following the pattern in Welsh names proper seen in Ednyfed fychan 'little Ednyfed', the name of a 13th-cent. warrior and ancestor of the Tudor dynasty. The name was typically used to distinguish father and son bearing the same name, as in Guyn Vaghan ap Guyn, 1325 in Morgan and Morgan. The name is also anglicized in the unlenited form Baughan.

Verrinder

- Current frequencies: GB 148, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 100

English: (i) unexplained. Perhaps an altered form of Middle English feriter ‘lightly armed soldier’, with typical late Middle English -n- in an unstressed medial syllable (compare nightingale), and with south-western voicing of the initial consonant, but this is a book-word. No medieval spellings have been found. (ii) perhaps a nickname from Old French vereder ‘wren’, likewise with insertion of inorganic medial -n-. (iii) perhaps an alteration of verderer, a word denoting a category of forest official, for example in the Forest of Dean (Gloucs).

Early bearers: Bridget Verinder, 1612 in Parish Registers (Painswick, Gloucs); Andrew Verinder, 1621 in IGI (Beverstone, Gloucs); Edward Verrinder, 1672 in IGI (Bisley, Gloucs); Sarah Verrinder, 1689 in Parish Registers (Stroud, Gloucs); George Ferrener, 1713 in IGI (Ebrington, Gloucs); William Verrinder, 1775 in

- Current frequencies: GB 134, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 45

Steghen in 1420). Compare Verlander for a well-evidenced development along similarly radical lines. Early bearers: Isaac Vertegans, 1638 in IGI (Earlham, Norfolk); Isaack Vertegants, 1699 in IGI (Marsham, Norfolk); John Vertegans, 1729 in Parish Registers (Saint Mary in the Marsh, Norwich, Norfolk); Judith Vertegan, 1747 in Parish Registers (Saint Mary, Bromsberrow, Gloucs); Amy Vertigan, 1802 in IGI (Tatterford, Norfolk); James Moore Vertigan, 1805 in IGI (Salle, Norfolk); Catherine Vestegan, 1832 in IGI (Sculthorpe, Norfolk); Robert Virtigan, 1840 in BMD (Walsingham, Norfolk); Jacob Virtigans, 1849 in IGI (Wells next the Sea, Norfolk).

Vessell

Variants: Wessel

- GB frequency 1881: 6
- Main GB location 1881: London; Sussex

English: occupational name for an officer in charge 'of the vessel' in a great household, from Anglo-Norman French vesselle, wessel 'vat, (wine) cask', 'cup, goblet', 'plate, precious metal', 'tableware, kitchenware'. He may have been the butler or cup bearer (compare Butler) or the household steward (compare Spence and Spencer).

Further information: Compare Middle English Vesseler, Wesseler, the name of a Sussex family attested in Rob. le Wesseler, 1249, Rob. le Vessilir, 1263 in Assize Rolls (Sussex), William le Vesseler, 1296 in Subsidy Rolls (Trotton, Sussex), Joh. le Vesseler, 1305 in Feet of Fines (Sussex), and John and Agnes le Vesselyr, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Chithurst, Sussex). Fransson interprets the name as 'one who makes or sells vessels (for the table and household)'. However, McKinley points out in Surnames of Sussex, p. 230, that the Sussex name was that of a landed family, so it is more likely that it was synonymous with de la Vesselle.

Norman, English: relationship name from the Old French and Middle English personal name Vivian, Vivien (Latin Vivianus, a derivative of vivus 'living', the name of a 5th-century martyr). As a given name its comparative rarity in medieval England gave it a distinctiveness that encouraged its use as a surname. Its pronunciation appears to have caused difficulty and it is found in a large variety of forms, not all of which have survived. Developments include the interchange of initial V and F, the interchange of intervocalic v and th, and the further interchange of th and d; thus Vivian became Fivian, which became Fithian which became Fidian. There was also some interchange of intervocalic v and b; see Fibbens. The initial Ph is merely a scribal variant of F. As Goodier becomes Goodger (see Goodyear), so Fidian became Fidgeon and Vidian became Vidgeon.

  - Main Irish location 1847–64: Ulster: esp. Down
- 1 Scottish: locative name from Wedale near Galashiels (Selkirk), which is recorded as Wedhale in 1184. According to Black it was also ‘the old name of the parish of Stow in Midlothian’.
- Early bearers: Scotland: Adam de Wedale, 1204 in Scotland Calendar; Symon de Wedhale, 1327 in Bishops of Scotland; Ellen Waddell, 1590 in IGI (Dunfermline, Fife); James Weddell, 1596 in IGI (South Leith, Midlothian); Bessie Waddell, 1601, Thomas Weddel, 1605, Agnes Weddle, 1641 in IGI (Kelso, Roxburghs); Rot Wedell, 1604 in IGI (Edinburgh, Midlothian); Marion Weddall, 1701 in IGI (Torphichen, W Lothian); Agnas Waddle, 1707 in IGI (Redgorton, Perth); Abigaill Waddell, 1770 in IGI (New Monkland, Lanarks).

3 English: (i) locative name, perhaps rarely from Woodhill Park in Clyffe Pypard (Wilts), which is recorded as Wadhulle in 1086, Wadhella in 1270. However, the definite article le in the 1357 example seems to point to an unknown nickname (though it might be a scribal error for de) and the persistent -el in the surname does not fit entirely well with derivation from the place-name. (ii) alternatively, if the definite article is ignored, perhaps from a hypothetical Middle English personal name **Wadel* (Old English **Wædel*).

Further information: It is not known if the Wilts surname survived into modern times.

Early bearers: Ralph Wadel’, 1249 in Assize Rolls (Wilts); Thomas le Wadel, 1357 in Inquisitiones post Mortem (Wilts); Thoma Wadel, 1379 in Poll Tax (Calne borough, Wilts); Waltero Wadele, 1379 in Poll Tax (Ogbourne Saint Andrew, Wilts).

Waddilove

- Current frequencies: GB 315, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 193
- Main GB location 1881: Lancs and WR Yorks

English: nickname perhaps for an infatuated lover, from Middle English waden (Old English wadan) ‘to wade, go deeply, be heavily committed’ + i(n) love. It appears to have been a regular expression. One 15th-century writer warned ‘In love of women wade nat over depe’, while another advised ‘In loves art men must deype wade, or [i.e. before] that ye be conquerd and e-wonne’ (both recorded in MED, at waden).

Further information: Reaney’s explanation, that the name is a metathesized form of the personal name Waldeve (see Walthew), is formally possible but it cannot be substantiated and the medieval evidence points to the nickname proposed above.

1 English: (i) nickname; apparently a nickname from the Middle English verb waggen (Old English wagian) 'to shake, tremble, stagger, waver, or vacillate' or 'to move (something) to and fro, up and down (etc.)'. The name may be an elliptical form of longer nicknames involving this verb; see Waple, Waghorn, and Wagstaff. (ii) nickname; alternatively Wagge may have the noun sense 'a mischievous boy', which is not recorded until the mid 16th century, but was probably in colloquial use considerably earlier.

Early bearers: Walter Wagge, 1230 in Pipe Rolls (Hants); Robert Wagg', 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Sussex); Gilbert Wagge, 1395 in Assize Rolls (Lincs); Bartholomei Wagge, 1543 in IGI (Betley, Staffs); Richard Wagge, 1563 in IGI (Edenham, Lincs); Thomas Wagg, 1581 in IGI (Halesowen, Worcs); Kathryn Wagg, 1596 in IGI (Astbury, Cheshire); John Wagg, 1606 in IGI (Pilton, Somerset); Thomas Wagg, 1681 in IGI (Norwich, Norfolk).

2 English: locative name from Middle English **wagge* 'marsh, quaking bog', a word found only in place-names, related to the verb waggen 'to move or shake'.

Early bearers: Henry atte Wagge, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Somerset).

N English: (i) variant of Wackett with voicing of medial /k/ to /g/. (ii) nickname; an alternative possibility in NE England is an unrecorded Middle English word **wagge-hed* from Middle English waggen ‘to wag’ + he(ve)d ‘head’; waggen with the hed meant ‘to nod’; also, nod in a coquettish or provocative manner’ MED. Absence of any known medieval bearers of the name is a difficulty but Thomas Waghepol, 1219 in Curia Regis Rolls, and Rogerus Waghpoll, 1379 in Poll Tax (Roud, Hants), may provide evidence of a comparable name, if these are for ‘wag poll (head)’ and not for ‘wag pole’.

Early bearers: John Waget, 1409 in Feet of Fines (Hants); Elizabetha Waggitt, 1623 in IGI (Patrick Brompton, NR Yorks); Roger Waggott, 1643 in PROB 11 (Muchelney, Somerset); John Waggitt, 1657 in IGI (Berwick upon Tweed, Northumb); John Waggott, 1661 in IGI (Carlisle, Cumb); Ralph Waggott, 1672 in IGI (Grinton, NR Yorks); Ralph Waggot, 1760 in IGI (Heversham, Westm); Anne Waggot, 1771 in IGI (Stanhope, Durham); John Waggott, 1777 in IGI (Hexham, Northumb).

1 English: occupational name ‘(man of the) watch’, from Middle English wak, wake ‘wake, vigil, watch, period of guard duty’ (Old English wacu, Old Scandinavian vaka). It alternates with the synonymous Middle English wache (Old English wacce), hence the variant Watch. The surname was also interchangeable with Waite (the equivalent Old French term) which, like Wake, was sometimes translated as Latin vigil ‘(one who is) watchful, alert’. When the bearers had high social status, the surname probably denoted an officer with responsibility for the security of a castle, town, or royal person. Compare Wakeman.

Further information: Hugh Wak(e) was a wealthy Norman, who in 1168 gave lands in the diocese of Bayeux, Normandy, to found the abbey of Saint-Laurent-de-Longues. English: occupational name from Middle English **walkeman* 'watchman, town guard', based apparently on Middle English walk(e) 'journey on foot', in this context perhaps 'watchman's or town guard's circuit'. It is synonymous with Wakeman, as is shown in two versions of Trevisa's translation of Bartholomew de Glanville's De Proprietatibus Rerum. The manuscript version (before 1398) has 'wakemen and wardeyns' while de Worde's printed version (1495) has 'walkmen and wardeyns'. A similar substitution apparently occurs in surname usage some 150 years earlier, when the place of Henry Walkeman of Winkburn in the 1327 Notts subsidy roll quoted below is taken by John Wakeman in the 1332 roll. Compare also Watchman.
Early bearers: Henry Walkeman, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Winkburn and Hockerton, Notts); Andrew Walkman, 1574 in IGI (Saint Giles in the Wood, Devon); Armelina Walkeman, 1587 in IGI (Ugborough, Devon); Ester Walkeman, 1617 in IGI (Bewdley, Worcs); John Walkman, 1764 in IGI (Saint Neots, Hunts).

English: locative name from Wallington (Herts), which is recorded as Wandelington, Wendlington, Wanlington, and Walingeton in the 13th century. Further information: There is no medieval evidence to suggest that either Wallington (Norfolk) or Wallington (Northumb) gave rise to a surname. Wallington in Beddington (Surrey), in which the medial -ing- is a relatively late development, is also an unlikely source, being recorded as Waleton in the 12th century, Walton in 1227–44, and Wallyngton in 1377. Early bearers: [... de] Welingeton, 1199, [... de] Wenlinggetone, 1201 in Place-Names of Herts (Herts); John de Wallington, 1307 in Subsidy Rolls (Wymondley, Herts); Eustace de Wandlyngton', 1331 in Feet of Fines (Wallington, Herts); Thomas de Walyngton', 1379 in Poll Tax (Stamford, Lincs); Adam Walyngton', 1381 in Poll Tax (Inglewood, Berks); Thomas Walyngton', draper, 1395 in Feet of Fines (Herts); Thomas Walyngton, 1403 in PROB 11 (Saint Benet Pauls Wharf, City of London); Alice Wallington, 1539 in IGI (Wantage, Berks); Rychardus Wallington, 1563 in IGI (Worminghall, Bucks); John

(ii) the personal name of Shi Yin (師尹), literally meaning 'head of officers', the name of an official post during the Western Zhou dynasty (1046–771 BC). (iii) the second element of Ling Yin (令尹), the name of an official post in charge of the military in the state of Chu during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC). This post was held by a prince of the state of Shen called Cheng, who migrated to the state of Chu when he took up the post.

3 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 溫 (Wen in Mandarin pinyin), meaning 'warm' in Chinese: (i) from Wen (溫), the name of an ancient state during the Western Zhou dynasty (1046–771 BC). During the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC) this state was annexed by the state of Di and the prince of Wen fled to the state of Wei (located around present-day Hebi and Xinxiang in Henan province). His descendants acquired 溫, the name of their original state, as their surname. (ii) from the place-name Wen (溫), the name of a fief granted to Wen Ji (溫季), an official in the state of Jin (located mainly in present-day Shanxi province) during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC). (iii) from the Chi Wen (叱溫), Wen Pen (溫盆), and Wen Gu (溫孤) families of the Xianbei ethnic group in N China. (iv) from the personal name of Wen Sheng (溫昇), who went into exile and changed his original surname, Liu (劉), to Wen 溫 after his father, Liu Yicong (劉易從), an official in the Tang dynasty (AD 618–907), suffered persecution and death.

4 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 雲 (Yun in Mandarin pinyin), from a word meaning 'cloud' in Chinese: (i) from Yun (郢), the name of an ancient state (located in present-day Hubei province), which was annexed by the state of Chu during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC). The name of the state was adopted as a surname, but a different character pronounced the same was chosen as the written form. (ii) from the Die Yun (牒雲), Xi Yun (悉雲) and You Lian families of the Xianbei ethnic group in N China, who acquired this surname during the Northern Wei dynasty (AD 386–534). (iii) shortened form of Jin Yun (縉雲), said to be the name of an official post during the reign of the legendary Huang Di, the 'Yellow Emperor' (traditional dates: 2697–2599 BC).

2 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 王, see Hong (5).

3 Korean: (왕; Chinese character: 王, meaning 'king'). Some sources indicate that there are fifteen Wang clans in Korea, but only two can be identified: the Kaesŏng Wang clan and the Chenam Wang clan. The Kaesŏng Wang clan, which originated in China, ruled the Korean peninsula for almost five hundred years as the ruling dynasty of the Koryŏ period (918–1392). There are some indications that the Kaesŏng Wang clan was present in the ancient Chosŏn Kingdom (?194 BC). When the Chŏnju Yi clan seized power in 1392 and established the Chosŏn kingdom, many of the members of the Kaesŏng Wang clan changed their names and went into hiding to avoid being persecuted by the new ruling dynasty. English: locative name from Middle English **waterer*, denoting one who lived by a stretch of water such as a village pond or a stream, as proven by the 1547–50 alias Atwater. Topographic names in -er were especially common in Surrey, Sussex, and Hants. This example became particularly numerous as a hereditary surname in Surrey, where it was still most frequent in the 1881 Census. There is no evidence to support Reaney's view that the name was occupational, from Middle English waterer 'a person responsible for watering animals' (attested once before 1500 in MED), or Cottle's view that it meant 'water-seller'.

Early bearers: Richard Waterer, 1443 in Hastings Court Rolls (Sussex); Jone Waterer, 1569 in IGI (Brightling, Sussex); Robert Waterer of Mayford, 1531 in Woking Will (Surrey), probably identical with Robert Atwater, 1496 in Woking Deed (Surrey); William Waterer alias Atwater, John Waterer alias Atwater, 1547–50 in Woking Rental (Surrey); William Waterer, 1623 in IGI (Mayford, Woking); Johannes Watrer, 1542 in IGI (Croydon, Surrey); William Waterer, 1561, Michael

  - GB frequency 1881: 4050
  - Main GB location 1881: Northumb, Durham, Borders
  - Main Irish location 1847–64: Down
- Scottish: nickname from Middle English wale 'foreigner' (in a form reflecting the final consonant of Anglian Old English walh), a word applied by the Northumbrians to Strathclyde Britons, in the same way that Gaelic Gall was applied by Highlanders to Lowlanders. The word usually denoted speakers of Celtic or Romance languages.
Further information: Black's derivation from the place-name Wauchope is impossible, as is Harrison's from Scots and northern dialect waugh 'wall'. Places along Hadrian's Wall are named using Anglian Old English wall, not wāg, and the -l- remains in the documentary record, as in Walker, Wallhead, Wallsend. The only evidence that might indicate a place-name origin is David de Waughe, 1296 in Black (Lanarks), and this is probably an error for le Waughe.

Scottish: locative name from a lost place-name of the Scottish Borders or Northumb. There is also a lost place near Debenham (Suffolk) called Weatherup, which may or may not contribute to the surname. The current most frequent spelling seems to have arisen in Ireland.

Weaving

• Current frequencies: GB 747, Ireland 7

English: perhaps a locative name from Weavern Farm in Biddeston (Wilts), about 10 miles from Purton, which was the main home of the surname for 100 years from the 1570s. This seems to have been originally Weaver Farm, from a local stream-name, and the -n seems to have sprouted in post-medieval times, affecting the surname also, encouraged perhaps by the prevalence of weaving as the main local industry of the Cotswold area. However, the name of the 1309 early bearer, already with final -n, raises the possibility of an additional unknown origin.

Early bearers: John Wevyn, 1309 in Patent Rolls (Warwicks); Elizabeth Weaving, 1579 in IGI (Purton, Wilts); Robert Wavin, 1666, Margarret Weavin, 1682 in IGI (Wootton Bassett, Wilts); John Weaving, 1677, Sarah Waveing, 1687 in IGI (Hatherop, Gloucs); John Weuin, 1707 in IGI (Minchinhampton, Gloucs); Mary Weven, 1729 in IGI (Bristol, Gloucs); William Wevins, 1735 in IGI (Stoke Poges, Bucks).

1 Chinese: Mandarin form of the Chinese surname 魏 (Ngai in Cantonese romanization), a term referring to 'the buildings at either side of the gates of the royal palace' in ancient Chinese: (i) from Wei (魏), originally the name of a fief (located in Ruicheng in Shanxi province) granted to Bi Wan, an official in the state of Jin. In 403 BC, the state of Jin was split into three, one of which was the state of Wei (魏), established by Wei Huan Zi (魏桓子). After this state was annexed by the state of Qin in 225 BC, its name was adopted by some people as a surname. (ii) adopted in place of the surname Mi (卬) by Wei Ran (魏冉), an official who lived in the state of Qin during the Warring States period (475–221 BC). (iii) borne by descendants of Wei Liao Weng (魏了翁), a scholar during the Southern Song dynasty (AD 1127–1279), who changed his original name Gao (高) to his uncle's surname Wei (魏).

2 Chinese: Mandarin form of the Chinese surname 危 (Ngai in Cantonese romanization), meaning 'danger' or 'towering' in Chinese: (i) from the second element of the place-name San Wei (三危) (located in Gansu province) to which people from an ancient state called San Miao (located in present-day Hunan, Hubei, and Jiangxi province) are said to have migrated during the reign of the legendary emperor Shun (reigned 2162–2110 BC). (ii) borne by descendants of Wei Su (危素), a scholar during the Ming dynasty (AD 1368–1644), who changed his original surname Huang to Wei (危).

3 Chinese: Mandarin form of the Chinese surname 韋 (Wai in Cantonese romanization), meaning 'leather' in ancient Chinese: (i) from the second element of the place-name Shi Wei (豕韋), the name of an ancient state (located in Henan province) said to have originally been granted to Yuan Zhe by the emperor Shao Kang in the Xia dynasty (2070–1600 BC). (ii) possibly from Wei (韋) as a title of an official in charge of the manufacture of leather goods. (iii) traced back to the Wei (韋) family in the ancient state of Shu Le (located in present-day Xinjiang Uygur autonomous region) during the Western Han dynasty (206 BC–AD 25). (iv) said to be borne by descendants of Han Xin (韓信), a revered official in the early Western Han dynasty (206 BC–AD 25), who was killed on the orders of Queen Lü Hou. His descendants fled to southern Canton (present-day Guangdong province and Guangxi Zhuang autonomous region) and simplified their surname Han (韓) to Wei (韋) in order to avoid persecution. (v) borne by descendants of Huan Yan Fan, who was endowed with the surname Wei (韋) by the emperor Tang Zhong Zong (AD 656–710) as a token of appreciation.

4 Chinese: Mandarin form of the Chinese surname 衛 (Wai in Cantonese romanization), meaning 'defend, guard' in Chinese: (i) from Wei (衛), the name of a state (located in Henan province) granted to Kang Shu, also known as Wei Kang Shu (衛康叔), the 9th son of Zhou Wen Wang (1152–1056 BC). After it was annexed by the state of Qin during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC), the name of the state was adopted as a surname by its original inhabitants. (ii) traced back to the Wei (衛) family from the Xianbei ethnic group in N China.

1 English, Scottish: locative name from Middle English, Older Scots wer(e) 'weir; fish-trap'. See also Ware, Wear, Wyer. In northern England and lowland Scotland there has been much confusion with the Irish and Scottish Gaelic names in (2) and (4), also (5) below.

Early bearers: England: Rob Wier, 1541 in Parish Registers (Saint Margaret, Westminster, Middx); Elizabeth Wier, 1575 in IGI (Norwich, Norfolk); Edward Wier, 1592 in PROB 11 (Ospringe, Kent); Edwarde Wier, 1593 in PROB 11 (Clerkenwell, Middx); Gilbert Wyer, 1625 in PROB 11 (Upper Handley, Worcs); Maria Wayer, 1625 in IGI (Baldon, Durham); William Weere, 1698 in IGI (Ryton, Durham); Mary Wier, 1717 in IGI (South Shields, Durham); Thomasine Weir, 1724 in IGI (Durham, Durham); Robert Weir, 1728 in IGI (Penrith, Cumb); Tho. 2 Scottish Gaelic: relationship name; in Scotland this surname was sometimes used for Mac an Mhaoir 'son of the steward', more often anglicized in Scotland as McNair.

3 Norman, Scottish: (i) family historians of the Weir family of Blackwood (Lanarks) trace its descent from Ralph de Ver, a Norman baron associated with William the Lion between 1174 and 1184; see De Vere. The change in pronunciation from Vere to Were would be unusual in Anglo-Norman French, and the true source of the surname may lie elsewhere. One possibility is Wierre in Pas-de-Calais. (ii) nickname; another possibility, if le is not an error for de in the 1296 example, is that le Wer and de Wer(e) represent versions of the Norman surname de la Were 'of the war', a nickname for a warrior; see Warr.

Early bearers: Richard Wer, Thomas le Wer, 1296 in Black; Rotaldus de Were, 1398–1400, Robert Weyre, 1497 in Black (Blackwood, Lanarks); Catherine Weir, 1716 in IGI (Blackwood, Lanarks); John Weir, 1725 in IGI (Glasgow, Lanarks); Robert Weir, 1784 in IGI (Carnwath, Lanarks).

4 Irish: from Mac an Mhaoir 'son of the steward', due to the similarity of sound between lenited genitive mhaoir and the word 'weir' and also the loss of both mac and the article an. This surname was formerly anglicized as McMoyer, whence Moyers. In Scotland it more often became McNair.

Early bearers: Ewyre oge Mac Ewire, 1567 in Fiants Elizabeth §1006 (the Morroes country, Wexford); Ferall McEwire, yeoman, 1585 in Fiants Elizabeth §4678 (Carton, Roscommon); Peirce McMoyer, 1664 in Hearth Money Rolls, Ireland (Tierchogan, Armagh);

The phrase 'well born' is evidenced in Old English, is absent from the Middle English record, and reappears in Modern English. It is therefore unlikely to be the source of any surnames.

English: locative name from Middle English wel(le) 'well, spring', or perhaps welwe 'willow' in the case of the second bearer, + stede, stide 'place', as a topographical description; no such place-name is known, though the first bearer with de suggests the existence of one.

However, the variant Welstod and the like, which seems suggest this personal name clearly, appears only late, the earliest record being from 1608.

Whammond

English: locative name from Old English hwamm ‘corner, angle, or small valley’ (which may sometimes be from Old Scandinavian hvammr). This gives rise to several Wham place-names in Yorks, for example in Dent, Giggleswick and Saddleworth, but the surname is absent from Yorks. Early bearers: Nicol atte Wamme, 1296 in Subsidy Rolls (Sussex); John atte Whamme, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Sussex); Minian Wham, 1720 in IGI (Whitechapel, Middx).

Scottish: nickname, occupational name from Old Scandinavian hvata-mann-, the oblique stem of hvata-maðr, a compound agent noun with the dictionary definition ‘prompter’, i.e. ‘instigator’. There may have been some confusion with Hammond or with Oman and its variants.

Further information: This is a variant of Wyman, according to Reaney and Wilson. But if it were ultimately from an Old English personal name, it would be better suited by the Hwætmynd recorded in the Anglo-Saxon charter Sawyer 346. Such a connection is very far from certain.

Early bearers: William Quhoman, 1483 in Bamff Charters (Banffs); John Quhoman, 1534 in Bamff Charters (Banffs); Jean Whament, 1725 in IGI (Oathlaw, Angus); Andrew Whamont, 1756 in IGI (Tannadice, Angus).

English: relationship name apparently from a pet-form of a personal name through the addition of the diminutive suffix -kin, though it is not clear which personal name this pet-form might be derived from. It is possible that it is from a short form of Old Norman French Wis(h)ard (see Wishart), but the -e- in the name of the medieval early bearer from 1327 is not compatible with this origin.

Further information: The diminutive suffix -kin usually occurs in relationship names, but there is evidence of its use in other types of name too (see, for example, Burdekin). Based on the 1327 early bearer, there is a possibility that Whiskin could also be from Middle English wise 'wise, discreet' (Old English wis) + the diminutive suffix -kin.

Early bearers: John Wisekyn, 1327, in Subsidy Rolls (Suffolk); Thomas Wiskin, 1596 in IGI (Whittlesford, Cambs); William Whiskin, Robert Whisking, 1609 in Parish Registers (Rampton, Cambs); Martha Whisken, 1610 in IGI (Ickleton, Cambs); Thos Wisken, 1690 in IGI (Kilnwick, ER Yorks); Elizabeth Wiskin, 1757 in IGI (Winston, Suffolk).

The early loss of the h is shown by the synonymous William le Wyccewrichte, 1256 in Feet of Fines (Somerset), who must have followed the same occupation as Richard Le Wycher, 1305 in Fransson (Somerset). (ii) occupational name, locative name; possibly for a dairy farmer or a ‘dweller at a place called Wich’, as in the case of Peter le Wycher and John Wych, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Worcs), both of whom were assessed in the parish of Hambury juxta Wych. (iii) a third possibility is that in some cases this is a topographic name meaning ‘dweller by the wych-elm enclosure’, as at Witcha Farm in Ramsbury (Wilts), the home of Richard atte Wycheheye in 1332 (Place-Names of Wilts, p. 290).

- Current frequencies: GB 683, Ireland 4

English: nickname, according to Reaney, “[c]learly a nickname, perhaps one with [sic] a splendid trumpet or drinking-horn (Old English hwīt ‘white, fair, splendid’ and horn).” However, the records of Joh. Wytepintell, 1317 in Jönsjö, Nicknames, Avelina Whyghtpincell’ [for -pintell’], 1381 in Poll Tax, clearly with Middle English pintel ‘penis’, suggest the possibility that Whitehorn is a nickname meaning ‘white or fair penis’, whatever that might imply. That said, the word horn is not found in the general vocabulary in this sense before the 18th century.

Further information: The name has nothing to do with the town of Whithorn (Wigtowns), though it might in theory represent an unidentified place-name or place-description of the same origin, from Old English hwīt ‘white’ + ærn ‘building’.

1 English: relationship name from the Middle English female personal name Wyburgh, Old English Wigburh.

surnames: Osbertus filius Wiburge, 1219 in Curia Regis Rolls (Leics); Roger Wybir, 1279 in Hundred Rolls (Oxon); Margeria Wyburgh, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Cambs); Thomas Wybourgwe, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Suffolk); Jacobus Wyborgh, 1377 in Poll Tax (Haydon, Wilts); Alce Wyborough, 1625 in IGI

2 English: locative name, possibly occasionally from Whyber in Morland (Westm) or Wyber in Soulby (Westm), considering the bearer from 1379, although seventeenth-century forms of these place-names suggest that the first element is from Old English hwīt ‘white’, and so some surnames in -t- would be expected. Perhaps also from Great and Little Wigborough (Essex), given the 1881 distribution of the name. Some of the bearers in (1) may belong here.

Early bearers: Willelmo de Wybergh, 1379 in Poll Tax (Clifton, Westm); Johis Wybergh, 1638 in IGI (Saint Bees, Cumb); Susannah Wyburgh, 1755 in IGI (Waltham Abbey, Essex).

English: (i) of unexplained origin, though apparently from a place-name. (ii) perhaps sometimes from an agent noun with the suffix -ere from Middle English wilen ‘to deceive’, with late addition of -h- as if from while; if this word is of French origin, which is uncertain, compare Guyler.

Early bearers: With h: John de Whylere of Evesham, 1302 in Patent Rolls; Johanne Whyler, 1379 in Poll Tax (Aldbourne, Snap and Upham, Wilts); Joan Whyler, 1545 in IGI (Sandwich, Kent); John Whyler, 1561 in IGI (Hampstead Norreys, Berks); Joan Whiler, 1571 in IGI (Polstead, Suffolk); Thomas Whiler, 1595 in IGI (Pipe and Lyde, Herefs); Samuel Whyler, 1789 in IGI (Gedling, Notts).

- Main GB location 1881: Derbys

English: (i) locative name from Wysall (Notts). (ii) locative name from Whishaw, a minor place in Goostrey cum Barnshaw (Cheshire).

Further information: Both place-names have undergone substitution of -l for the final element of the diphthong in the last syllable, and since the loss of the distinction between W- and Wh- the names may appear similar. Bearers with medial -s-, or with -s- separated from -h-, seem traceable to Notts, whilst most bearers with medial -sh- seem traceable to Cheshire. The Notts name is possibly the source of the London-area name seen in James Wisewould, 1761 in IGI (Southwark, Surrey). There is also scope for confusion of the Notts name with Whistle.

Early bearers: Roger de Wisho, 1199 in Pipe Rolls (Notts); Johannes de Wyshagh', 1381 in Poll Tax (Parr, Lincs); Margreat Whishall, 1590, John Whishaw, 1670 in IGI (Goostrey cum Barnshaw, Cheshire); Elizabeth Whishall, 1697 in IGI (Chester, Cheshire); Apphia Whishaw, 1705 in IGI (Audley, Staffs); Samuel Whisall, 1741, Isaac Whiswall, 1748 in IGI (Pentrich, Derbys); Thos Wishall, 1745 in IGI (Warrington, Lincs); Samuel Whissal, 1772, Milly Whysall, 1784 in IGI (Ripley, Derbys); David Wiseall,

1 English: locative name from Middle English wik(e) (Old English wīc) 'a building, an enclosed piece of land, or a dependent farm where a certain kind of work is done'. In place-names the term is frequently combined with words associated with food production, as in Butterwick 'butter wick', Chiswick 'cheese wick', Cowick 'cow wick', Hardwick 'herd wick', Gatwick 'goat wick', Shapwick 'sheep wick', Goswick 'goose wick', Berwick 'barley wick', Fishwick 'fish wick'. The most common sense is 'dairy farm'. In Essex as late as 1729 there is mention of 'a wick or dairy of 20 cows' at Saint Osyth (Place-Names of Essex, p. 594). The surname may be topographic, denoting someone who lived or worked at a wick (compare Wicker), or toponymic, denoting someone who lived at or came from a place called Wick (of which there are examples in Berks, Gloucs, Somerset, Wilts, and Worcs), Wyke (Devon, Dorset, Surrey, WR Yorks), or Week (Cornwall, Devon, Hants, IoW, Somerset). The Middle English word had three main forms, which are found in more or less free variation in place-names and surnames: (i) Wyke and Wike, rhyming with like, deriving from the long vowel of Old English wic, Middle English wike, although the vowel was often shortened, giving Wick; (ii) Middle English wich, rhyming with ditch, the usual source of Wych; (iii) Weke, recorded from the 15th century onwards, but now rare or extinct as a surname. See also Wicks, with which Wick was commonly interchangeable.

from a place so named, such as Wicken (Cambs, Northants), Wicken Bonhunt (Essex), (Ash)wicken (Norfolk), Wyken (Warwicks), Wykin (Leics), or Wigan (Hunts), but in view of the modern distribution it probably more often denoted someone who worked at a dairy farm. English: unexplained.

Further information: It is certain that this name originally had initial W- rather than Wh-, which would rule out a locative explanation from Middle English whit 'white' + fen 'fen, marsh', though Thomas Whytfen, a rent collector, is found, 1473–76, in Cornwall Record Office (Colquyte, Cornwall), far from the heartland of the name. Thomas Whitfen, 1740 in IGI (Bromley, Kent), seems to represent Whiffen as if indeed understood to be 'white fen', unless this entry has been misread. Wiffen might alternatively be a nickname from Middle English wif-thing 'sexual intercourse, wedding', which is supported by the -ng in earliest spellings.

Early bearers: William, Mathew Wyffyn, 1318 in Feet of Fines (Somerset); William Wyffyn of Feryby [Ferryby, ER Yorks or Lincs], merchant, 1332 in Patent Rolls (E England); Thomas Wyffyn, 1377 in Poll Tax (Downe, Kent); Giles Wyffen, 1522 in Suffolk Record Office (Bury) (Hawstead, Suffolk); Richard Whyffyn, 1533–4 in Gloucs Archives (Ruardean, Gloucs); Edmund Wyffin or Wyffyn, 1565 in PROB 11 (Great Thurlow, Suffolk); John Whyffen, 1578, George Whiffen, 1602 in IGI (Ash next Ridley, Kent); Thomas Wiffen, 1600 in IGI (Bradfield Combust, Suffolk); Johis Wiffin, 1613 in IGI (Weasenham All Saints, Norfolk); Thomas Whiffyn, 1615 in IGI (Linton, Cambs); Christian Whiffen, 1616 in PROB 11 (Broad Sydling, Dorset); Anne Whiffin, 1618 in IGI (Bromley, Kent); William Wiffin, 1637 in PROB 11 (All Hallows the Less, City of London); Ann Wiffing, 1650 in IGI (Garboldisham, Norfolk); Richard Whiffin, 1654 in IGI (Ridley, Kent); John Whiffing, 1660 in IGI (Charlton near Woolwich, Kent).

- GB frequency 1881: 151
- Main GB location 1881: N England: esp. ER Yorks

English: locative name from Wilberfoss (ER Yorks). Further information: William Wilberforce, born in Kingston upon Hull in 1759, was MP for Hull 1784–1812. His opposition to the British slave trade led to the Slave Trade Act of 1807. The spelling -force rather than -foss is consistently used in his branch of the family from at least the early 18th century. Since the 15th century the -r- in -or- was often lost in dialect pronunciation (compare hoss for horse), and force for foss ‘ditch’ is a mistaken correction by people who wanted to sound polite and educated. The r spelling occurs earlier in York (Edward Wilberforce, 1663 in IGI), in Leeds (Thomas Wilbeforth, 1653, Mary Wilberforth, 1658 in IGI, where -forth has been substituted for -force), and in Sussex, presumably through family migration from Yorks or Durham: Richard Wilberforce, 1590 in IGI (Birdham); Elizabeth Wilberforce, 1620 in IGI (Herstmonceux). Spelling of the surname with -foss(e) declined in the late 19th century and is now rare or extinct, but it survives in the modern place-name.

Wildmore

Variants: Willmore, Wilmore

- Current frequencies: GB 52, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 35
- Main GB location 1881: Lincs

English: locative name from Wildmoor in Belbroughton (Worcs) and perhaps also from Wildmore Fen (Lincs), though early evidence that the latter gave rise to a surname is lacking. A third possible source is the Weald Moors (Shrops), recorded as Wyldeomor in 1291–2, for which see the place-names Eyton upon the Weald Moors and Preston upon the Weald Moors (Shrops). There may have been some confusion with the surname Wilmer; compare William Willmore, 1689, Angel Wilmer, 1713 in IGI (Little Horwood, Bucks).

Early bearers: William de Wiltemore, 1221 in Assize Rolls (Worcs); Thomas de la Wildemore, 1275 in Löfvenberg (Worcs); Thoma de la Wildemore, 1280 in Subsidy Rolls (Bromsgrove, Worcs); Alice de Wyldeomore, 1309 in Patent Rolls (Chadwick, Worcs); Joh. atte Wildemor, 1327 in Löfvenberg (Worcs); William de Wyldeomor, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Staffs); Willelmus de Wyldeomor, 1377 in Poll Tax (Loynton, Staffs); Thos Wilmore, 1569 in IGI (Enderby, Leics); Edward Wilmore, 1587 in IGI (Budbrooke, Warwicks); Elizabeth Wildmer, 1591 in IGI (Saint Botolph without Bishopsgate, London); Thomas Willmore, 1592 in IGI (Saint Martin Ludgate, London); Agnes Wildmore, 1599 in Parish Registers (All Saints, Bradley, Staffs); Thom Willmore, 1621 in IGI (Goxhill, Lincs); Jane Willmore, 1626 in IGI (Hambury, Worcs); William Willmoor, 1742 in IGI (Bromsgrove, Worcs); Francis Wildmoor, 1743 in IGI (Holbeach, Lincs); Sarah Willmoor, 1746 in IGI (Holbeach, Lincs); Catharine Wildmore, 1794 in IGI (Melton Mowbray, Leics); William Wildmor, 1797 in IGI (Wymondham, Norfolk).

- Current frequencies: GB 719, Ireland 3
- GB frequency 1881: 638
- Main GB location 1881: WR Yorks; also Notts, Derbys, and Staffs

1 English: relationship name, perhaps from Middle English **Willesmogh* 'Will's son-in-law', with an intrusive -d- and the refashioning by folk etymology of -smogh as -smith. Compare Hudsmith and Adam Wilmogh, 1381 in Poll Tax (Pennington, Lancs).

Early bearers: William Wildsmith, 1560 in IGI (Sedgley, Staffs); Ric. Wildsmith, 1562, Jeremiah Wildsmith, 1671 in IGI (Eckington, Derbys); Patricke Wildsmith, 1566 in IGI (Canterbury, Kent); Agnes Wildsmith, 1573 in IGI (Saint Botolph without Aldgate, London); James Wildsmith, 1588 in IGI (Braithwell, WR Yorks); Richd. Weldsmith, 1785 in IGI (Ecclesfield, WR Yorks).

2 English: occupational name, perhaps from Middle English w(h)elsmith (Old English **hwēol-smið*) 'wheel-smith', a maker of wheels, especially the iron parts. Compare Wheelwright. The vowel could have been shortened to -i-, producing **W(h)ilsmith*, then Wildsmith with an intrusive -d-. For the vowel change compare Robert le Whilwright, 1349 in Derbys Charters. However, Middle English Welsmith is rare and has so far only been noted in Essex, far from the main location of Wildsmith in post-medieval times.

Early bearers: Euota Welsmyth, 1319 in Subsidy Rolls (Essex); Ivo le Welsmyth, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Fairstead, Essex); Alice Welsmithe, 1608, Susanne Welsmith, 1628 in IGI (Winthorpe, Lincs).

3 English: nickname perhaps from Middle English wild(e) 'wild, reckless, mad', + smith 'smith'. The single Scottish example below is too early for the linguistic changes suggested in (1) and (2), and it is so isolated it is difficult to know whether or not it sheds light on the English name.

Early bearers: John Wyldesmyth, 1259 in Scotland Calendar (Peebles); Ric. Wildsmith, 1562 in IGI (Eckington, Derbys); Elizabeth Wildsmith, 1585 in IGI (Saint Botolph without Aldgate, London).

Wilkey

- Main GB location 1881: W Midlands

1 English: relationship name, variant of Wilk with genitival or post-medieval excrescent -s. Some of the following early bearers may alternatively belong with (2).

Early bearers: John Wilkys, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Worcs); Willelmus Wilkes, 1381 in Poll Tax (Blymhill with Brineton, Staffs); John Wylkes, 1460 in Feet of Fines (Chipstead, Kent); Hugh Wilks, 1540 in IGI (Kidderminster, Worcs); Georgii Wilks, 1542 in IGI (Bromyard, Herefs); John Wylkes, 1543 in IGI (Adlestrop, Gloucs); Jone Wilks, 1547 in IGI (Clifford Chambers, Warwicks); George Wilks, 1573 in IGI (Bardsey, WR Yorks); Robert Wilkes, 1582 in IGI (Broadway, Worcs); William Wilkes, 1585 in IGI (Brailes, Warwicks); Alys Wylks, 1593 in IGI (Cranbrook, Kent); Grace Wilks alias Wilkins, 1606 in York Registry Wills (York); Richard Wilks, 1626 in IGI (Darlaston, Staffs).

2 English: relationship name from the Middle English personal name Wilcus, an uncommon pet form of a personal name in Wil-. The suffix is a double diminutive -k + -us, the latter being used with Old English female names. See Aldous, Edis. So Wilcus may be a pet form of an Old English female name such as Wilburh. Alternatively, it may have been used with Norman personal names of either gender, for example as a pet form of William. Compare Roger Wyleconesone (misreading of Wylecousone), 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Sutton, Sussex) with the 1379 Sussex example of Wilcous below. If Wilcus became an inherited surname it would quickly have become merged with Wilkes; indeed some examples of W Midlands Middle English Wilkus could be alternative spellings of Wilkes and vice versa. Adam Wilkous and Ricardus Wilkes both appear in the 1381 Poll Tax for Brewood, Chillington, Horsebrook, Somerford, Engleton, Hatton and Gunstone (Staffs). Wilcus may also have been absorbed into Wildgoose.

Early bearers: given names: Wilcus, 1297 in Subsidy Rolls (Great Studley, WR Yorks).

surnames: Emma filia Wilcus, 1296, Orand Wilcus, 1296, identical with Horanda filia Wilkus, 1297 in Gringley Court Roll (Gringley on the Hill, Notts); Willelmo Wilcous, 1379 in Poll Tax (Sedgewick, Sussex); Nicholao Wilkus, 1379 in Poll Tax (Chisenbury, Wilts); Willelmo Wilkus, 1379 in Poll Tax (Ogbourne Saint George, Wilts); Willelmus Wilkus, 1379 in Poll Tax (Stivichall, Warwicks); Adam Wilkous, 1381 in Poll Tax (Brewood, Chillington, Horsebrook, Somerford, Engleton, Hatton and Gunstone, Staffs).

English: locative name, perhaps from Willersey (Gloucs). ## Willden

English: (i) probably a variant of Walthew. The originating personal name and surname are recorded in Staffs: Waldeve de Walton, 12th century in Staffs Chartulary; William Waldyf, 1305 in Assize Rolls (Staffs). English: locative name apparently from a place named with an unidentified first element and Old English lēah. There is a place called Wimberley Mill (Gloucs), recorded as Wymberle(y) in 1307, which could have given rise to the surname, but the concentration of early bearers in Lincs and the 1379 early bearer from Westm suggest that the name has a different locative origin, from one or more places which are now lost.

English: relationship name possibly from the Middle English personal name Winemer, from Old English **Winemār* 'friend-famous', as suggested by the 1187, 1279, and 1377 early bearers below. However, there is little evidence that this has persisted as a surname, and if it has it is likely to have been confused with Wymer. - Current frequencies: GB 1510, Ireland 4
- GB frequency 1881: 1298

1 English: (i) locative name, nickname from Middle English winche 'winch, pulley' (Old English wince), later developing the meaning 'well', presumably because a winch would have been used to extract water from a well. The surname is probably for someone who lived by a well. See also Wink. (ii) locative name for someone who lived by a sharp bend in a river or valley, from a transferred sense of the same Middle English word as in (i). This sense appears to be behind some place-names, such as Wincham (Kent) and Winchbottom (Bucks). Some early bearers may belong under (2) or (3), excepting those from 1275 and 1332.

Early bearers: Walter Winch, 1184 in Pipe Rolls (Cambs); William de la Winche, 1275 in Subsidy Rolls (Worcs); Thomas atte Wynche, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Worcs); Robert Winch, 1573 in IGI (Somerton, Suffolk); Adam Winch, 1577 in IGI (Hughenden,

3 English: nickname perhaps also from a further transferred use of the Middle English word in sense 1(i), for a lapwing (compare Middle English lapwink 'lapwing', Old English hlēapewince) or other bird known for its leaping and twisting flight.

Early bearers: William le Wynch, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Sussex).

Winchurch

- Current frequencies: GB 170, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 71
- Main GB location 1881: Worcs, Warwicks, and Staffs; WR Yorks

English: apparently an irregular development of an earlier surname Winchurst, occurring as Wincehurst or Wyncehurst in its earliest forms, suggesting a possible locative origin from a lost place named with Old English wince 'winch, pulley', also 'bend in a river or valley', + hyrst 'small hill, mound, copse', though this cannot be certain without any medieval bearers; none can be found. The surnames

Winchurst and Winchurch were both concentrated in Dudley (Staffs) during the 17th and 18th centuries. Early bearers: Margery Wyncehurst, 1623 in IGI (Old Swinford, Worcs); John Wincehurst, 1637 in IGI (Stepney, Middx); William Winchurch, 1642 in IGI (Stepney, Middx); Thomas Winchurst, 1675 in IGI (Dudley, Staffs); John Winchurch, 1679 in IGI (Dudley, Staffs); Dorothy Winchurch, 1683 in IGI (Stepney, Middx); John Winchurch, 1727 in IGI (Kings Lynn, Norfolk); Emanuel Winchurch, 1743 in IGI (Dudley, Staffs); George Winchurch, 1744 in IGI (Burnham, Bucks); Kath Winchurch, 1765 in IGI (Dudley, Staffs); George Winchurch, 1802 in IGI (Dudley, Staffs).

Early bearers: Willelmus de Wilmecote, 1228 in Patent Rolls (Warwicks); William de Wynnecote, 1253–4 in Feet of Fines (Warwicks); John Wynecotte, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Worcs); Willelmus Wylnekote, 1379 in Poll Tax (Ruin Clifford, Warwicks); Elizabeth Wincott, 1610 in IGI (Bath, Somerset); Orgeyn Wincott, 1622 in IGI (Padiham, Lancs); Thomas Wincot, 1633 in IGI (Harbury, Warwicks); Rachell Wincott, 1674 in IGI (Tanworth in Arden, Warwicks); Jo Wincott, 1688 in IGI (Church Lench, Worcs).

Variants: Windibank

- Current frequencies: GB 523, Ireland 4
- GB frequency 1881: 449
- Main GB location 1881: Hants

English: locative name from Middle English wind 'wind' + the adjectival suffix -i, -y + bank 'bank, ridge, hill' (Old English wind + -ig + Old Danish banke or the Old English equivalent banca). The surname is likely to be toponymic, probably in most cases from Windy Bank in Southowram (WR Yorks), though there are six other places of the same name in WR Yorks and a place called Windy Bank in Hundersfield (Lancs) which could also have given rise to the surname. It is now rare in Yorkshire and N England but is heavily concentrated in Hants, where it has been recorded since the 17th century, suggesting migration to the county or perhaps a separate topographical origin, denoting someone who lived at a 'windy bank'.

Early bearers: Henry de Wyndibonk, about 1300 in Whalley Abbey Coucher Book (Lancs); Robert del Wyndybankes, 1315 in Wakefield Court Rolls (Yorks); Roberto del Wyndebonk, 1379 in Poll Tax (Great Harwood, Lancs); Thomas Wyndebank, 1379 in Poll Tax (Southowram, WR Yorks); Marye Windebank, 1577 in IGI (Davington, Kent); Aaron Windebank, 1584 in IGI (Dover, Kent); Thomas Windebank or Windbank, 1608 in PROB 11 (Saint Martin in the Fields, Middx); Simon Windebanck, 1655 in Hearth Tax (Farrington, Hants); John Windibank, 1728 in

- Main GB location 1881: Gloucs

English: probably a variant of Windows with loss of -s, perhaps due to a false assumption that the surname Windows represented a plural form of Middle English windowe ‘window, opening’. ## Windridge

- Current frequencies: GB 435, Ireland 3
- GB frequency 1881: 232
- Main GB location 1881: Warwickshire and Staffordshire

English: locative name from Windrush (Gloucs), recorded as Wenerige in 1250 and Wyndridge in 1590, or possibly from the river which gave its name to the Gloucs place. Alternatively, perhaps from Windridge Farm in Saint Michaels (Herts). Compare Windross. Further information: It is suggested in Reaney, Dictionary that the surname is from the Old English personal name Wynric, but there is little evidence to support this derivation. Early bearers: Robert Wenrich', 1327 in Feet of Fines (Newport Pagnell, Bucks); Robert de Wenrych, 1329 in Patent Rolls (Stoneleigh, Warwickshire); Thomas and Roger Wynruge, 1373 in Patent Rolls (Burford, Oxon); John Wynriss', 1389 in Feet of Fines (Burford, Oxon); Henry Windridge, 1674 in IGI (Polesworth, Warwickshire); Alice Windridge, 1681 in IGI (Alrewas, Staffs); John Windridge, 1697 in IGI (Kings Bromley, Staffs). References: Place-Names of Gloucs 1, p. 209

Windross

- Current frequencies: GB 191, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 135
- Main GB location 1881: Yorkshire

English: unexplained. The suggestion by Reaney and Wilson that the surname is locative from Windros Laithe in Flasby (WR Yorks) is unlikely, as this late place-name appears to take its name from the surname. This Yorkshire surname may be connected in some way with the surname Windridge, probably from Windrush (Gloucs), though Redmonds states in Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames that he can find no link between the surname Windross and Windrush (Gloucs). Early bearers: Thomas Wynderiche, 1419, John Wyndryse, 1467, John Wyndrise or Wyndres, 1490–1507 in Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames (York); Thomas Wyndros, 1558 in Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames (Kirkham, ER Yorks); Christopher Windresse, 1612 in Parish Registers (Holbeck, WR Yorks); Ellen Windross, 1659 in IGI (Hackness, NR Yorks); Widow Windross, 1672 in Hearth Tax (Holbeck, WR Yorks); Lawrence Windross, 1684 in IGI (Lytham, Lancs). References: Redmonds, Dictionary of Yorks Surnames.

1 English: locative name from Windsor (Berks), Windsor in Stratford upon Avon (Warwickshire), Winsor in Copythorne (Hants), Winsor in Yealmpton (Devon), or Broadwindsor and Little Windsor (Dorset). All these places have the same linguistic origin, whose meaning is controversial, but seems to be 'windlass bank'. Further information: the place-name occurs also in Pembrokeshire and Cumberland, and possibly Derbyshire, but the modern distribution suggests that these do not contribute to the surname. This is the name of the British Royal House of Windsor, who adopted it in place of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha (a branch of the German House of Wettin) in 1917 as a result of anti-German feeling during World War I. Early bearers: Godfrey de Windelesor, 1086 in Winton Domesday (Hants); Reginald de Windesore', 1130 in Pipe Rolls (Bucks) . . . de Windlesor' 1202 in Pipe Rolls [referring to Broadwindsor (Dorset)]; Dom. Wyndesouer', 1379 in Poll Tax (Malham, WR Yorks); John Wynsover 1522, John Wynsor, 1525 in Early Tudor Craven (Malham, WR Yorks); Henry Windsor, 1586 in York Registry Wills (Malham, WR Yorks); George Windsor, 1672 in Hearth Tax (Addingham, WR Yorks).

1 English: (i) locative name, nickname from Middle English winke, a form of winche 'winch, pulley' (Old English wince), later developing the meaning 'well', presumably because a winch would have been used to extract water from a well. The surname is probably for someone who lived by a well. See also Winch. (ii) locative name for someone who lived by a sharp bend in a river or valley, from a transferred sense of the same Middle English word as in (i). The 1312 early bearer and some post-medieval early bearers may belong under (2).

- Main GB location 1881: Hants, Surrey, and Berks

English: locative name from Winkworth Farm in Lea (Wilts), recorded as Winkeworthe in 1248. It is also possible that the surname is from Winkworth Farm in Godalming (Surrey), considering the presence of medieval early bearers in the county, but there are no medieval forms for this place-name and so the early bearers in Surrey may be migrants from the Wilts place, who later gave their name to the place in Surrey.

- 1 English: nickname, relationship name from a Middle English survival of the Old English word wine 'friend'. This is unattested in the Middle English period but the early bearers with the definite article, such as those from 1293, 1296 and 1377, suggest that the vocabulary word might still have been in use. There was also an Old English personal name Wine, derived from this word, which may have given rise to the surname. English: unexplained. Reaney and Wilson suggest that the name is locative, from Wincheap Street in Canterbury (Kent), and while there are relevant medieval bearers from Kent (see John de Wenchep, 1275 in Hundred Rolls (Kent)), the heavy concentration of the surname Winship in Durham and Northumb in 1881 strongly suggests that the present-day surname has a different but unknown origin.

spear which was used as a winning post (from the Middle English verb winnen, win 'to win' + spere 'spear, lance'). This is supported by a known sense of Middle English glaiue 'spear, lance' (Old French glaiue), defined in MED as 'a lance set up as a winning-post in a race (sometimes given as a prize to the winner); also, the prize so won'.

English: probably an altered form of Winterton, principally a Norfolk and E Midlands surname, which may have migrated to SW England in the 17th century.

Further information: The surname looks as though it should denote ‘son of someone named Winter’, either from the Middle English personal name or the surname (see Wintier). ### Winton

Variants: Wynton, Vinton

- Current frequencies: GB 1705, Ireland 69
- GB frequency 1881: 1097
- Main GB location 1881: Sussex; Angus and Perths; also Midlothian
- Main Irish location 1847–64: Derry

English: locative name from any of several places called Winton, such as those in Lancs, Sussex, Westm, and NR Yorks. The name’s distribution suggests it is often from Winton in Alfriston (Sussex). Some of the medieval examples cited below may alternatively represent the standard Medieval Latin rendering of Winchester. This is certainly so in the case of Peter de Wintonia, 1269 in Patent Rolls (Winchester, Hants). It is unlikely that this clerical form of the name ever entered vernacular speech as a hereditary surname.

Further information: Black has commented that this name is ‘of territorial origin from the lands of Winton in the parish of Pencaitland, East Lothian. Alan de Wyntoun witnessed a grant by Peter de Grame to the House of Soltre between 1190 and 1238’. These ‘lands’ are surely named after the de Wyntoun family, who apparently gave their name to Winton House (E Lothian) through connections with the Norman de Seton family, who held land in this area from the 12th century.

Early bearers: England: William de Winton’, 1202 in Feet of Fines (Yorks); Nicholas de Wynton’, 1277 in Feet of Fines (Essex); Johanne de Wynton, 1379 in Poll Tax (Kirkby Stephen with Mallerstang, Westm); Johannes de Wynton’, 1381 in Poll Tax (Worsley, Lancs); Richard Wynton, 1525 in Subsidy Rolls (Sussex); Ann Winton, 1590 in IGI (Appleby, Westm); Blase Winton, 1561 in IGI (Worth, Sussex); Scotland: Patrick Winton, 1671 in IGI (Dundee, Angus).

English: locative name apparently from Witherden Farm (Kent) or Witherenden in Ticehurst (Sussex). These places were recorded as Wycherindenn (1275) and Wytherenden (1180) respectively, and may be possible origins of the surname Witherington.

However, more modern forms of these place-names (the current form for Witherden Farm and Witherden for the Sussex place-name in 1823) suggest that, if a surname which originated in one of these places followed the same development as the corresponding place-name forms, it could become Witherden.

- Current frequencies: GB 330, Ireland 36

Scottish: of uncertain origin. Black tentatively mentions the possibility of a locative name derived from Middle English and Older Scots wether 'ram' + Middle English spang, **spong* 'long narrow strip of ground'. The compound makes an intelligible (but unrecorded) minor place-name, but although spong is recorded in post-medieval field names in WR Yorks, the Midlands and Kent, neither spang nor spong, let alone a reduction to spōn, are recorded with this sense in Dictionary of the Scots Language. Nor is there any evidence for wither as a variant of wether 'ram'. If, in spite of these difficulties, the explanation is right, the form of the name must have been altered by folk etymology, influenced perhaps by Middle English and Older Scots wither (as a verb 'to dry up', as an adjective 'hostile, opposite') and spon 'spoon' or 'roofing shingle'. MED, at spōn, records a tenement called Wytherespones, 1396 in Miscellaneous Inquisitions, which presumably alludes to the surname of a former owner rather than to the physical characteristics of a building.

Early bearers: Scotland: Roger Wythirspōn, clerk, late 13th cent. in Black (Renfrews); John Wyddirspwn, 1518 in Glasgow Rental (Lanarks); Margaret Wetherspone, 1599 in IGI (Falkirk, Stirlings); Patrik Witherspone, 1613 in IGI (Inveresk with Musselburgh, Midlothian); Mareoun Witherspoon, 1618, Agnes Widderspoon, 1661, James Widirspōn, 1663 in IGI (Glasgow, Lanarks); Betrix Witherspwn, 1662 in IGI (Auchterarder, Perth); John Witherspune, 1668 in IGI (Lasswade, Midlothian); Isobel Wadderspoon, 1694 in IGI (Govan, Lanarks);

1 English: nickname meaning 'wolf' (Middle English wolf, Old English wulf), sometimes latinized as Lupus, also found in the French forms Lou and Love (see under Low). This is also a common spelling of the name in Ireland; see also Woulfe.

Further information: There is an Old English and Germanic personal name Wulf (see below), but it is doubtful whether any instances of the surname are derived from this. The personal name is late and not common in Old English, and Redin, Studies doubts if any of the examples are really native. However, Old Scandinavian Úlfr was not uncommon and has survived (see Ulph), but Wolf as a surname is generally found with the article le in the 13th and 14th centuries.

1 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 王 (Wang in Mandarin pinyin), meaning 'king' or 'royal'. (i) in some families, the surname is traced back to Crown Prince Jin, son of King Zhou Ling Wang (reigned about 571–545 BC) of the Eastern Zhou dynasty. Jin incurred his father's displeasure (for criticizing plans to divert the Gu and Luo rivers) and was disinherited. His descendants adopted the surname Wang (王) in commemoration of his royal status. (ii) in other cases, the name is traced back to Tian He (died around 384 BC), who usurped the throne of the state of Qi in 391 BC. After the annihilation of Qi by the state of Qin in 221 BC, some descendants of nobles of Qi adopted the surname Wang (王) in memory of the royal status of their ancestors. (iii) the surname is also borne by descendants of royal families in certain other states, for example Wei, during the Warring States period (475–221 BC). (iv) in other families, the surname is traced back to Bi Gan, who was murdered by his nephew Zhou, last king of the Shan dynasty (1600–1046 BC). Descendants of Bi Gan also adopted the surname Wang (王). (v) the surname has also been adopted by some families of minority ethnic groups, for example the Ke Yi (可颐) families of the Xianbei (鲜卑) ethnic group. (vi) in some families, this surname is traced back to ancestors who either were endowed with it by an emperor or changed their original surname, claiming royal status.

2 Chinese: Cantonese pronunciation of the Chinese surname 汪 (Wang in Mandarin pinyin), a word applied to water and meaning both 'deep' and 'puddled' in ancient Chinese: (i) shortened form of Wang Mang (汪芒), also called Wang Wang (汪罔), name of a state in present-day Wukang, in Zhejiang province. After the extinction of this state, at an uncertain date, its inhabitants fled to other places and the surname was shortened to Wang (汪). (ii) for some families, the surname is traced back to the royal family of the state of Lu (1024 BC–256 BC) during the Warring States period. The 21st king of the state of Lu, Lu Cheng Gong, endowed one of his sons (Man) with lands in Wang (in present-day Shandong province), where they adopted the surname Wang. (iii) from the name of Wang Chuxiu (汪处休). In the earlier Song Dynasty (AD 960–1127), in Quanzhou in Fujian province, Weng Qianhu had six sons and gave different surnames to each of them. His sixth son, Weng Chuxiu, was given the surname Wang. He and his brothers all became important officials, known as 'the Six Laureates'.

3 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 黄 (Huang in Mandarin pinyin), meaning 'yellow' in Chinese: (i) from Huang (黄), the name of a former state (present-day Huangchuan in Henan province) annexed by the state of Chu during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC). (ii) traced back to some minority ethnic groups in ancient S China.

4 Chinese: non-standard romanization of the Chinese surname 温, see Wan (3).

5 Chinese: non-standard romanization of the Chinese surname 翁, see Yung (1).

- GB frequency 1881: 86

- Main Irish location 1847–64: Tipperary

English: (i) relationship name apparently from a Middle English personal name **Wodeloc* (Old English **Wudulāc*). (ii) locative name; the preposition in the name of the 1311 early bearer suggests the surname could be from a lost place named with Old English wudu 'wood' + loc, loca 'fold, enclosure'. However, the Woodlock family were wealthy medieval land-holders (including Henry Woodlock, bishop of Winchester 1305–1316) who gave their name to the manor of Marwell (Hants), sometimes known as Marwell Woodlock. It may be that the 1311 early bearer's name denotes a connection with this manor, rather than a place named Woodlock.

Further information: This name appears to have been taken to Ireland in 1172 by Torsten and Reginaldus Utlag, sons of a Wilts landowner named Wudulach (see the 1180 early bearer).

Woodmass

- Current frequencies: GB 153, Ireland 0
- GB frequency 1881: 46
- Main GB location 1881: Northumb

English: nickname perhaps from Middle English wode 'wood' + mose 'titmouse' (Old English wudu + mās), for a titmouse or small bird known to have its habitat in a wood, or from wode + mous 'mouse' (Old English mūs), for a woodland-dwelling mouse, in either case possibly for a small or insignificant person. The earliest spellings strongly suggest only the latter.

Further information: Given the northern distribution of the surname, the later forms could also derive from Middle English wode-merche, a word for a not firmly identified plant (but compare woadmesh, a N English and SW Scottish dialect term for dyer's greenweed, perhaps for a dyer who used that particular dye). For the phonological development necessary, compare the variants of Titchmarsh such as Titmas.

English: (i) locative name, perhaps from Woolland (Dorset). (ii) locative name from Middle English wough 'bent, crooked' + land(e), lond(e) 'land' (Old English wōh + land). The surname could be for a person who lived at or near a bend in a stream or river, or who lived at or came from any place so named, such as Wollensbrook in Great Amwell (Herts). However, no medieval bearers of this surname can be found. Wollensbrook was recorded as Wollans brook in 1689 and Woollens about 1840, and so Woollen may sometimes be a variant of this surname. Variants in -ham may be due to scribal variation between final -n and -m, and the subsequent misinterpretation of -am as being for -ham.

- Current frequencies: GB 507, Ireland 7
- GB frequency 1881: 312
- Main GB location 1881: Somerset and Gloucs; Glamorgan; ER Yorks

1 English: nickname, perhaps for someone with a twisted body from having a crooked neck, back or legs. Middle English **wrid(e)*, **wrede* is recorded only in names and seems to imply an Old English noun **wride* 'twist, bend', derived from Old English wriþan 'to twist, to writhe' (see Ekwall, DEPN, at Wordwell). Its sense development to 'the twisted (one)' may have been influenced by Middle English wried 'crooked, bent, twisted', past participle of wrien 'to writhe, be crooked (etc.)', and this may also explain why the modern name is Wride (with a long vowel or diphthong) rather than the expected Wrid(d).

Further information: No evidence has been found to support Reaney's locative explanation for the surname, from residence by a winding stream called Wride. He is thinking of Wride (Cambs), for which see Place-Names of Cambs, p. 282, at Wryde Croft, but the etymology of the name is disputed by Ekwall, DEPN, at wrid.

Early bearers: Roger Wrid, 1199 in Pipe Rolls (Suffolk); John Wrid', 1219 in Assize Rolls (Lincs); Elyas le Wrede, 1274 in Hundred Rolls (Essex); Hugh Wride, 1279 in Hundred Rolls (Oxon); Alan and Simon le Wryde, 1283–4 (15th cent.) in Bury Saint Edmunds Register (Bradfield Saint Clare, Suffolk); Joh' Wridde, 1303 in Nottingham Borough Court Rolls (Notts); Willelmo Wride, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Gillingham, Dorset); Roberto, Alexandro Wryde, 1327 in Subsidy Rolls (Yaxley, Suffolk); John Wride, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Market Deeping, Lincs); Nicholas Wryde, 1332 in Subsidy Rolls (Garthorpe, Lincs); Willelmus Wryde, 1377 in Poll Tax (Northampton, Northants); Margareta Wride, 1379 in Poll Tax (Brantingham, ER Yorks); Thoma Wride, 1379 in Poll Tax (East Barkwith, Lincs); Thomas Wrydde, 1379 in Poll Tax (Langham, Norfolk); Walterus Wride, 1379 in Poll Tax (Warwicks); Magota Wryde, 1379 in Poll Tax (Conisbrough, WR Yorks); Thomas Wryde, 1381 in Poll Tax (Bishop Burton, ER Yorks); Willa Wride, 1572 in IGI (Alveston, Warwicks); Robert Wryde, 1603 in IGI (Huggate, ER Yorks); Thomas Wride, 1635 in IGI (Hanham and Oldland, Gloucs); Edward Wride, 1671 in IGI (Numburnholme, ER Yorks); Phillip Wride, 1730 in IGI (Necton, Norfolk); Samuel Wride, 1734, Samuel Wrede, 1789 in IGI (Bedminster,

In Essex it was still in use in the late 16th century, when Camden (1605) noted the 'making cheese of ewes' milk in their little dairy houses or huts [on Canvey Island] built for that purpose, which they call Wiches'. 1 English: (i) locative name identical with Ware, from Middle English war(e), wer(e) ‘weir, fish trap’. This word developed regularly in early Modern English to ware, wear(e), wer(re), weer(e), and weir(e), but it also appears as wier, wyre, and wire, presumably from a Middle English variant **wire* and possibly attested in the 1367 London example. The name may have been given to someone employed as a wereward ‘weir-keeper’. See also Weir and Wear, especially for the Lancs name. (ii) locative name, in some cases perhaps from Wyre Forest (Worcs) or from Wyre Piddle (Worcs).

2 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 殷 (Yin in Mandarin pinyin), meaning 'plentiful' in ancient Chinese: (i) from the place-name Yin (殷), the name of the capital (located in present-day Henan province) of the Shang dynasty (1600–1046 BC). Pan Geng, the 19th king of the Shang dynasty, moved the original capital Yan (located in present-day Shandong province) to Yin. Thus the Shang dynasty was also known as the Yin dynasty. After the Shang dynasty was overthrown by Zhou Wu Wang (c. 1087–1043 BC), people kept the name of the state as their surname. (ii) from Yin Shui (殷水), the name of a river in Shangshui in Henan Province. People who lived along the river acquired 殷 (Yin), the name of the river, as their surname.

3 Chinese: Mandarin form of the Chinese surname 嚴 (Yim in Cantonese romanization), meaning 'solemnity' in Chinese: this surname evolved from another Chinese surname, 莊 (Zhuang or Chuang in Mandarin pinyin, Chong in Cantonese romanization; see Chong (1)). People with the surname 莊 changed it to 嚴 (both Chinese characters mean 'solemnity') during the reign of Liu Zhuang (劉莊), also known as Han Ming Di (AD 28–75), because the surname 莊 happened to be the given name of the emperor, which was taboo in ancient China. Later some descendants kept the surname 嚴, whereas others changed back to the original surname 莊.

6 Chinese: Mandarin form of the Chinese surname 顏 (Ngan in Cantonese romanization), meaning 'face' in ancient Chinese: (i) from the personal name of Yan (顏), the style name of Zhu Wu Gong, also known as Zhu Yan Gong or Yan Gong, the king of the state of Zhu (located in present-day Shandong province) during the Western Zhou dynasty (1046–771 BC). (ii) from the place-name Yan (顏), the name of a fief (located in Shandong province) granted to Bo Qin, son of the first king of the state of Lu (located in present-day Shandong province) during the Western Zhou dynasty (1046–771 BC).

8 Chinese: Mandarin form of the Chinese surname 言 (Yin in Cantonese romanization), meaning 'words, speech' in Chinese: (i) in some cases, the surname is borne by descendants of the royal families of the state of Han (located mainly in present-day Shaanxi and Henan provinces), who were descendants of Huan Shu (802–731 BC). (ii) in other families, the surname is traced back to Yan Yan (言偃), a student of Confucius (551–479 BC).

(ii) from Yan (燕), the name of a state (located in present-day Hebei and Liaoning provinces), known as 'North Yan'. This was originally granted to Shao Gong Shi, the brother of Zhou Wu Wang (c. 1087–1043 BC). After the state was annexed by the state of Qin (located originally in present-day W Shaanxi province) in 222 BC, people adopted the name of the state, 燕, as their surname. However, the census information in the examples below gives no hint of a foreign ancestry. (ii) alternatively, perhaps a variant of French or Scottish Yon, with the vowel unrounded. The following bearers, if of Scottish ancestry, could otherwise belong with (14).

1 Chinese: Mandarin form of the Chinese surname 姚 (Yao in Mandarin pinyin, Yiu in Cantonese romanization), meaning 'far' in ancient Chinese: (i) from the first element of the place-name Yao Xu (姚墟) (said to be located in present-day Puyang in Henan province), said to be the birthplace of the legendary king Shun (reigned 2162–2110 BC). (ii) from Yao (姚), the name of an ancient state (probably located in present-day Shandong province) during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC).

2 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 游 (You in Mandarin pinyin), meaning 'a section of a river' or 'to swim' in Chinese: (i) from the second element of the personal name Zi You (子游), the style name of Yan, son of the king Zheng Mu Gong (648–606 BC) in the state of Zheng (located in part of present-day Shaanxi and Henan province). (ii) borne by descendants of Cheng Shi, also known as Qu Wo Huan Shu (802–731 BC), younger brother of king Jin Wen Hou (805–746 BC) in the state of Jin.

3 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 尤 (You in Mandarin pinyin), meaning 'outstanding' in ancient Chinese: (i) possibly from You (尤), the name of a river (located in present-day Shandong province) in the state of Qi. 4 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 邱 (Qiu or Chiu in Mandarin romanization). This was adopted in place of the Chinese surname 丘 (see sense 5) after the Western Han dynasty (206 BC–AD 25), particularly during the reign of the emperor Yong Zheng in the Qing dynasty, who, out of respect for Confucius, ordered people with the surname 丘 to change to the surname 邱, because the original surname 丘 happened to be the given name of Confucius.

5 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 丘 (Qiu or Chiu in Mandarin romanization), meaning 'mound, knoll' in Chinese: (i) from the second element of the place-name Ying Qiu (營丘) (located in Shandong province), the capital of the state of Qi when the state was established by Jiang Tai Gong (c. 11th century BC). (ii) traced back to the Qiu (丘) family in the Wuhuan ethnic group, which originated in Inner Mongolia. (iii) adopted as a surname by the Qiu Dun (丘敦) and the Qiu Lin (丘林) families from the Xianbei ethnic group in N China during the Northern Wei dynasty (AD 386–534). (iv) from the second element of the place-name Wan Qiu (宛丘), a city in the state of Chen during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC). (v) said to be traced back to Zuo Qiu Ming (左丘明), a famous historian in the state of Lu during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC). 1 Chinese: Mandarin and Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 伊 (Yi in Mandarin pinyin), meaning 'he or she' in ancient Chinese: (i) from the personal name Yi Yin (伊尹), a famous official who made great contributions to the establishment of the Shang dynasty (1600–1046 BC). It is said that he lived along a river named Yi Shui (伊水) (located in Henan province), and thus acquired the surname Yi (伊). (ii) adopted as a surname by the Yi Lou (伊婁) family from the Xianbei ethnic group in N China during the Northern Wei dynasty (AD 386–534).

2 Chinese: Mandarin form of the Chinese surname 易 (Yi in Mandarin pinyin, Yik in Cantonese romanization), meaning 'amiable' or 'easy' in Chinese: (i) possibly from Yi (易), the name of a river (located in Hebei province). (ii) from the first element of the personal name Yi Ya (易牙), also known as Yong Wu, an official in the state of Qi during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC), who was famous for his good cooking. (iii) from the first element of the place-name Yi Zhou (易州) (located in Yixian in Hebei province).

3 Chinese: Mandarin and Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 衣 (meaning 'clothes' in Chinese), or possibly a mispronounced form of the Chinese surname 殷. See Yan (2).

4 Chinese: Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 爾 (Er in Mandarin pinyin; meaning 'thou or you' in ancient Chinese), a shortened form of the Chinese compound surname Er-Zhu (爾朱), from the ancient name of a river (now called Zhu Jia Chuan), located in NW Shanxi province.

5 Chinese: non-standard romanization of the Chinese surnames 余, 于 (or 於), 俞, 虞, 庾, 喻, 禹, 宇, 茹, and 汝, see Yu (1–10).

6 Korean: (Yi, 이); Chinese character 李, meaning 'plum'. This is the second most common surname in Korea, comprising about 16 per cent of the total population. It is found in every part of the country. There are three Chinese characters for this surname, but two of them are quite rare, and one of them is not found outside North Korea. Some sources indicate that there are as many as 546 Yee clans, and about 100 of them have been documented. The founder of the oldest clan, the Kyōngju Yi, was named Yi Al-p'yōng (李 諱平); he flourished in around AD 32. He was one of the six original rulers of pre-Shilla Korea. Aside from a few other Yi families, which originated from the Kyōngju Yi clan, most of the other main clans were formed at the end of the Koryō period or beginning of the Chosŏn period. Some Korean Yi families trace their origins back to China. The founder of the Chosŏn Kingdom and of the Yee dynasty, Yee Sōng-gye (李 成桂), was a member of the Yee clan from Chōnju. This clan ruled the Korean peninsula from 1392 to 1910.

Further information: This Korean name is also anglicized as Lee, Rhee, and Yi.

English: locative name from either of two places called Yelverton (Norfolk, Devon). Medieval examples of the surname are from the Norfolk place, but the modern surname is associated mainly with Devon, where the earliest record of the surname in

IGI is in 1761, and is probably a substitution for Elford, an earlier form of the Devon place-name.

Further information: The Devon place, a hamlet in Buckland Monachorum, is not officially on record as Yelverton until the 19th century, when the Great Western Railway so named the station it built there in 1859. It is a dialect pronunciation of Elverton, which is first recorded in 1765 as an extended form of its medieval name Elford + -ton ‘town’. The farm there is called Elfordtown on the 6-inch Ordnance Survey map. The more usual surname derived from this place is Elford and it may be that Yelverton is a deliberate renaming of an 18th-century family in Ottery Saint Mary otherwise known as Elford, perhaps to distinguish different branches of the family. Compare John Elford, 1762 (son of John and Mary Elford) in IGI (Ottery Saint Mary, Devon).

English, Scottish: status name from Middle English yoman 'yeoman', a word that probably originated as a reduced form of Middle English yonge man. In the spelling Zeman (1296, 1565) Z is used as an alternative letter shape for Y.

Further information: A yeoman in the Middle Ages in England was a middle-ranking servant in a noble house, ranking between a sergeant and a groom (alternatively, between a squire and a page). The term became a byword for reliable and faithful service. In Scotland by the 16th century it had come to denote a landholder next in rank below a gentleman, specifically one who owned land worth at least forty shillings a year.

2 Chinese: Mandarin and Cantonese form of the Chinese surname 于 (meaning ‘go’ in ancient Chinese) or 於 (often simplified as 于 in mainland China, meaning ‘depend on’ in ancient Chinese): (i) simplified form of the Chinese character 邶, the name of an ancient state (located in Qinyang in Henan province), which was granted to Yu Shu (邶叔), the third son of Zhou Wen Wang (1152–1056 BC). After it was annexed by the state of Zheng during the Spring and Autumn period (770–476 BC), the Chinese character 邶 (pronounced Yu) was simplified to 于 and adopted as a surname. (ii) adopted as a surname by the Wan Niu Yu (萬祖于) family from the Xianbei ethnic group in N China during the Northern Wei dynasty (AD 386–534). (iii) adopted in place of the Chinese compound surname Chun-Yu (淳于), because the first element of the surname, Chun, happened to share the same pronunciation with the given name of the emperor Li Chun, also known as Tang Xian Zong (AD 778–820), which was taboo in ancient China. (iv) said to be traced back to Yu Ze (於則), who was said to be the inventor of shoes, an official of the legendary Huang Di, the ‘Yellow Emperor’ (traditional dates 2697–2599 BC).
