

Phrasal verbs using 'in' and 'out' example sentences

Listen to the accompanying MP3 and read these sentences. This will train your brain to master these phrasal verbs.

1. The company is moving in to its new offices next month. It's going to be a really busy period.

2. Jack's friend: "Hi Jack. Can I drop in to talk about something later?"

Jack: "Sure, what time do you want to come?"

3. Don't plug in the hair dryer. I think it has a problem so it could be dangerous.

4. Paul didn't want to join in with class activities today. Is he feeling OK?

5. The professional criminals broke into the bank and stole more than $1 million in cash.

6. Wife: "What would like for your birthday dinner tonight?"

Husband: "Let's eat out at the Chinese buffet restaurant."

7. Studying at university and working at the same time is very tiring, but I'm not going to drop out. I'm determined to finish my studies.

8. Hello Madam. Please fill out this form and we can open your account today.

9. My daughter has a skin allergy, so we decided to cut out dairy products from her diet. It might help.

10. Sir. I can't figure out the answer to question four. Could you please help me?

11. John and I are having some problems with the business, but we're figuring out how to solve them.

12. I told Jane to cut out Facebook because she's using it too much.

13. Sir, would you please fill out this short questionnaire? It will only take one minute to complete.

14. I dropped out of school when I was just 13, but I managed to turn my life around and start my own business.

15. We need to stop eating out so often. It's costing too much money.

16. Oh my god, call the police! Someone is breaking into that car over there.

17. Hey Matthew, don't just sit on the side. Come and join in our game.

18. Can you plug in my phone? The battery is dead.

19. We dropped in to the library to return the books.

20. Michael: "Tina is moving in with me next week."

Harry: "Wow. Your relationship with her is getting serious."

21. I am taking night classes at the local college, but I'm thinking about dropping out. It's not a very useful course for me.

22. Brenda is being really strange lately, but she won't tell me why. I just can't figure out what's wrong with her.

23. Look at this funny story. The thieves broke into a bank, but got locked inside! The police came an hour later and arrested them.

24. We are going to have a big housewarming party at our new house after we move in. Will you come?

25. When I lived in Thailand, I often ate out because it was so cheap compared to London.

26. Mark's father: "How was Mark's first day at school?"

Mark's mother: "He really loved it. He joined in with all the class activities and made lots of new friends."

27. Mary: "Would you like a cup of tea or coffee?"

Joanne: "Coffee please, but no sugar. My dentist told me to cut out sugar."

28. I need an adaptor to plug in my laptop. Do you have one?

29. Excuse me sir, you filled out this section incorrectly. Please do it again.

30. Hi Terry. Can you drop in sometime today for a few minutes? I have got a present for you.